MARINE NOTICE.

A second class spire wooden buoy with pole and basket, painted in red and white rings, has been laid E. by S. about 7 miles from the Kannaka buoy in 14 fathoms low water, and marked P. P. as the Point Palmiras Reef buoy. The buoy is in latitude north 20° 48′ 30″, longitude east 87° 14′ 10″.

The Kanna buoy is now a first class wooden spire buoy with bell and basket, instead of a second class buoy with basket only.

The H. buoy of the Dhamrah river has been moved 700 yards to the N.E. on account of an extension of the sand in its vicinity.

The best track across the Chandipal bar, Dhamra river, has been marked by two bar buoys, one red and one black, in lieu of the former single fairway buoy. The track is very narrow, with from 7 to 8 feet low water in it.

The C and D buoys lost in the cyclone have been relaid.

All buoys at the entrance to the Dhamrah have been overhauled and put in good order.

 The Rig-Veda, the oldest book of Indian literature, has very properly been made one of the principal class-books for those who study Sanskrit in the schools and colleges in India, and though at present a scholar-like knowlege of the Vedic hymns is in the examinations required of the more advanced students only, yet, as soon as editions, translations, grammars, and dictionaries shall have rendered the study of these ancient documents more accessible, I doubt not that the time will come when no one in India will call himself a Sanskrit scholar who cannot construe the hymns of the ancient Rishis of his country.—Extract from Preface.

74. If, during the currency of any period as is mentioned in the last preceding section, any substantial alteration and improvement is made on any such land, the Justices may cause such land to be again assessed, even though such period has expired, and such last mentioned assessment shall be in force, and the rate shall be imposed according to it, until the expiration of the said three years.

75. The annual value assessed, or the area fixed, by the Justices as hereinbefore provided, shall be entered in a book to be kept at the office of the Justices, wherein shall also be written in distinct columns—many districts as they may think fit, and proceed to make a separate valuation or measurement district by district, and shall enter the same in the assessment book.

Returns may be required for purpose of valuation.

77. The Justices may require the owner or occupier of any land to furnish them with returns of the measurements, and of the rent, or annual value thereof; and the Justices, or any person authorized by them in that behalf, may at any time between sunrise and sunset, enter on to, and inspect, survey, and measure such land.

Public notice of valuation and measurement to be given.

78. When the valuation and measurement of any of the districts of the Town, into which it may have been divided by the Justices shall have been completed, the Justices shall give public notice thereof, and of the place where the assessment book or a copy thereof, may be inspected, by advertisement in at least two of the daily newspapers published in Calcutta, and also by placards posted up in conspicuous places throughout such district of the Town; and the person in whose custody the assessment book may be, shall permit every person being the owner or occupier of land included in the assessment or measurement, or the agent of such owner or occupier, to inspect the book and to make extracts therefrom without payment of any fee, and every person not being such owner or occupier, to inspect and make extracts, in like manner, on payment of a fee of one rupee.

79. The Justices shall, at the time and in the manner in the last preceding section mentioned, give public notice of a day, not being less than fifteen days from the publication of such notice, when they will proceed to revise the said valuation, or measurement and assessment; and in all cases in which any land is for the first time assessed, or in which the valuation or measurement of any land previously assessed is increased, shall give special notice thereof to the owners or occupiers of the same.

and thereupon, and subject to such alterations and amendments as may thereafter be duly made, the rate so assessed shall be deemed to be the rate for the whole period for which the assessment is made, and this period shall be calculated from the commencement of the quarter succeeding that in which any such amendment shall be so authenticated.

Alteration or amendment of assessment.

82. The Chairman or Vice-Chairman may at any time amend the assessment book by inserting therein the name of any person whose name ought to be so inserted, or by inserting any land liable to the rate, after giving notice, to any person interested in the making of the amendment, of a day, not being less than fifteen days from the date of the service of such notice, when such amendment is to be made; or by striking out the name of any person or any land not liable to the rate, or reducing the amount of the rate, without notice:

and if any amendment shall be made, in cases where notice is required, the same shall be deemed to have been made on the expiration of fifteen days after service of the said notice; and any person interested in such amendment may appeal by application in writing to the Justices, to be left at their office three days before the day fixed in the said notice for such amendment.

New assessment book need not be prepared every three years.

83. It shall not be necessary to prepare a new assessment book at the expiration of each period of assessment, but the Justices may adopt the valuation or measurement and assessment contained in any assessment book for any previous period with such alterations as may, in particular cases, be deemed necessary, as the valuation, or measurement and assessment for the period next following.

Provided that sections 78, 79, 80, and 81 shall, as far as possible, be applicable to such valuation, or measurement and assessment, and to the assessment book or books in which it is contained.

Hearing appeals.

84. Appeals against any rate assessed or demanded by the Justices under this Act shall be heard and determined by not less than three Justices of the Peace.

No appeal shall be heard unless the amount of the rate has been deposited with the Justices;

85. The assessment by the Justices of any rate, when no appeal therefrom is made as hereinbefore provided, and the adjudication of any appeal under the last preceding section, shall be final and conclusive.

Notice of demand.

87. If the bill is not paid by the person liable to pay the same, within seven days from the presentation thereof, the Justices may cause to be served upon such person a notice of demand, in the form contained in the third schedule or to the like effect; and if he shall not, within seven days from the service of such notice of demand, pay the sum due, or show sufficient cause, to the satisfaction of the Justices, for non-payment of the same, such sum, with all costs, may be levied by distress and sale of the moveable property of the defaulter, or if the defaulter be the occupier of any land in respect of which a rate is due, by distress and sale of any moveable property found on the land, under a warrant in the form contained in the fourth schedule or to the like effect, to be issued for that purpose by the Justices.

Distress.

For every notice of demand under this section which the Justices shall cause to be served upon any person, a fee not exceeding one rupee, the amount of which shall be in each case fixed by the Justices, shall be paid by such person.

Such fee shall be added to the amount of the rate in respect of which the notice is given, and, if not duly paid, shall be levied in the same manner as such rate may be levied.

Inventory—notice of distress.

88. The officer charged with the execution of a warrant of distress under the last preceding section shall make an inventory of the moveable property seized under such warrant, and shall at the time give a notice in writing, in the form contained in the fifth schedule, to the person in possession thereof at the time of the seizure, that the said moveable property will be sold as therein mentioned.

Sale.

89. If the warrant is not in the meantime discharged or suspended by the Justices, the moveable property seized shall be sold under the orders of the Justices, who shall apply the proceeds, or such part thereof as may be necessary, in discharge of the said arrears and costs; and the surplus, if any, shall be returned, on demand, to the person in possession of the moveable property at the time of the seizure.

Fees shall be payable upon distraints under this Act according to the rates set forth in the Table of Fees in the fifth schedule.

Goods of defaulter, wherever found, may be distrained.

90. The moveable property of any person from whom any rate is due may be distrained, wherever the same may be found, for default in payment of the money due from him.

Rate due from owner may be recovered from occupier, and deducted by him from his rent.

91. If the sum due on account of any rate from the owner of any land remains unpaid after notice of demand has been duly served, the Justices may demand the amount from the occupier for the time being of the land, and, on non-payment thereof, may recover the same by distress and sale of any moveable property found on the land and, in such case, the occupier may deduct, from the next and following payments of his rent, the amount which may be so paid by, or recovered from, him.

Provided that no arrear of rate, which has remained due from the owner of any land for more than one year, shall be so recovered from the occupier thereof.

Distress not unlawful for want of form.

92. No distress levied under this Act shall be deemed unlawful, nor shall any party making the same be deemed a trespasser on account of any defect or want of form in the notice, schedule, summons, notice of demand, warrant of distress, inventory, or other proceeding relating thereto, nor shall such party be deemed a trespasser on account of any irregularity committed by him; but all persons aggrieved by such irregularity may recover full satisfaction for any special damage sustained by them in any Court of competent jurisdiction.

Justices may sue, instead of proceeding by distress.

93. Instead of proceeding by distress and sale, or in case of failure to realize by distress and sale the whole or any part of the sum due in respect of any rate, the Justices may sue the person liable to pay the same in any Court of competent jurisdiction.

CHAPTER VII.

OF THE WATER-SUPPLY.

The Justices to provide water-supply.

94. The Justices shall provide a supply of water within the Town, and shall for that purpose cause such mains and pipes to be laid, and such tanks, reservoirs, or other works to be made and constructed, as shall be necessary for the supply of water in all the chief public streets of the Town, and shall also erect, in all such streets, sufficient and convenient stand-pipes or pumps for the gratuitous use of the inhabitants of the Town.

The said stand-pipes or pumps shall be so placed that there shall not be any portion of any such street, at a greater distance than one hundred and fifty yards from some such stand-pipe or pumps, and such stand-pipes or pumps shall, between sunrise and sunset, so far as may be reasonably practicable, be kept supplied with water.

The communication-pipes leading the water from the mains and pipes of the Justices into the house of any rate-payer, and the pipes and works within the house connected therewith, shall be of such character, dimensions, and material, as the Justices or their Officer authorized by them in that behalf shall fix and approve: and shall be made and constructed at the expense of the person requiring the same.

Communication-pipes, &c., must be made to satisfaction of Officer of the Justices.

Such communication-pipes and works may be made by the servants and workmen of the Justices, upon such terms as may be agreed upon between the Justices and the person requiring the supply, or subject to such charges as may be fixed by the Justices; and the Justices may require the amount necessary for the execution of such works to be paid or deposited before such works are executed;

and such charges and expenses shall be recoverable in the same manner as the Water-rate.

102. If any person supplied with water shall neglect to pay the Water-rate hereinafter mentioned at any of the times of payment thereof, the Justices may turn off the water from the land in respect of which such rate is payable, by cutting off the pipe to such land, or by such means as the Justices may think fit, and may recover the expenses of turning off the water, from such person.

Water may be cut off on neglect to pay the rate.

103. Any occupier holding direct from the owner of any house may, by notice in writing signed by him, require the owner of such house to perform all such necessary works as may be required for bringing into such house a proper and sufficient supply of water for domestic use.

Power to require owner to provide works for water-supply.

Every such notice shall contain an agreement on the part of such occupier to pay interest at the rate of one per cent. per mensem, calculated from the date of the completion of the works, on the cost of such works during the residue of his term of occupation.

Provided that if the house and the premises belonging thereto shall not abut upon some street in which there is a supply-main, such occupier shall, in the agreement, undertake to pay the cost of connecting the house with the nearest supply-main.

104. Power to make and improve streets.

140. The Justices, making due compensation to the owners and occupiers of any land which may be required for any such purposes, may

(a) lay out and make new streets;

(b) build and construct new bridges;

(c) turn, divert, discontinue, or stop up any public street; and

(d) widen, open, enlarge, or otherwise improve any such street.

For the purpose of this section the Justices may purchase any land necessary for houses and buildings to form any street, or for the improvement of any street.

141 The Justices shall, so far as the Municipal Fund permits, from time to time cause the public streets to be maintained and repaired, and for such purpose may do all things necessary for the public safety and convenience.

Cleansing streets.

142. The Justices shall cause the streets to be regularly swept and cleansed; and the dust, dirt, filth, and refuse of every kind whatsoever found thereon to be collected and removed.

143. The Justices may cause any number of moveable or fixed dust-boxes or other convenient receptacles, wherein dust, dirt, filth, and refuse of every kind whatsoever may be temporarily deposited until removed and carried away, to be provided and placed in proper and convenient situations, and may require the occupiers of houses in streets to cause all such matter as aforesaid to be deposited daily, or otherwise periodically, in such receptacles.

Watering streets.

144. The Justices, so far as the Municipal Fund permits, and so far as they may deem requisite for the public convenience, shall cause the public streets to be watered; and for that purpose may provide such works and engines as they may think necessary.

Obstructions in streets.

145. The Justices may remove any obstruction or encroachment in or on any public street, or in or over any open drain, sewer, or aqueduct alongside of such street; and the expense of such removal shall be paid by the person causing such encroachment or obstruction.

Nothing in this section contained shall prevent the Justices from permitting any temporary erections in any public street on occasions of festivals and ceremonies.

Private persons laying out new streets.

146. Every person who wishes to make or lay out any new street, shall give notice in writing thereof to the Justices, showing the intended level and width of such street; and the level and width of every such street shall be fixed or approved by the Justices; and the Justices may, if they think fit, cause any such street laid out or made at a level or width otherwise than in accordance with the level or width so fixed or approved as aforesaid, to be altered; or may cause any house, erected in any such street, otherwise than in accordance with such level and width, to be altered, or if necessary removed, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the person offending.

If no such level or width be fixed, and no approval or disapproval of the level or width proposed, be signified by the Justices within one month, the intended street may be laid out and made upon the level and of the width specified in the notice.

Paving, &c., of private streets.

147. If any street (not being a public street) or any part thereof, be not levelled, paved, metalled, flagged, channelled, and sewered to the satisfaction of the Justices, they may, by notice in writing to the respective owners or occupiers of the land fronting, adjoining, or abutting upon, such parts thereof as may need to be levelled, paved, metalled, flagged, channelled, and sewered, require them to level, metal, pave, flag, channel, and sewer the same within a time to be specified in such notice, and upon non-compliance the Justices may, if they think fit, execute the works mentioned or referred to therein:

and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owners in default according to the frontage of their respective lands, and in such proportion as shall be settled by the Justices, or, in case of disputes, as shall be settled in the manner hereinafter provided for the settlement of disputes respecting damages and expenses;

Provided that, after such street shall have been so levelled, paved, metalled, flagged, channelled, and sewered, on the requisition of the Justices, or by the Justices as aforesaid, at the expense of the owners, such owners shall have a right to require that the street shall be declared a public street, to be from time to time repaired by the Justices out of the Municipal Fund.

Certain streets to be deemed public and repaired by the Justices.

148. If any street (not being a public street, but being a street over or through which the public have or may hereafter have a right of way) be levelled, paved, metalled, flagged, channelled, and sewered to the satisfaction of the Justices, they may, if they think fit, by notice in writing put up in any part of such street, declare the same to be a public street, and thereupon the same shall become a public street, and be from time to time repaired by them out of the Municipal Fund.

Houses may be set forward for improving line of streets.

149. The Justices may, upon such terms as they shall think fit, allow, any house to be set forward for improving the line of any public street in which such house is situated.

Houses projecting beyond line of street, when taken down, to be set back.

150. When any house any part of which projects beyond the regular line of a public street, or beyond the front of the house on either side thereof, has been taken down in order to be re-built or altered, the Justices may require the same to be set back to or towards the line of the street or the line of the adjoining houses.

Provided that the Justices shall make full compensation to the owner of any such house for any damage he may thereby sustain, and if any dispute shall arise touching the amount of such compensation, the same shall be settled in the manner hereinafter provided for the settlement of disputes respecting damages and expenses.

Names of streets.

Numbers on houses.

152. The Justices may, from time to time, fix a number in a conspicuous place on the outer side of any house or at the entrance of the enclosure thereof fronting the street.

Doors not to open outwards.

153. All doors, gates, bars, and ground-floor windows (whether hung or placed before or after the commencement of this Act), which open upon any public street, shall be hung or placed so as not to open outwards and cause obstruction; and if any such door, gate, bar, or window be hung or placed so as to open outwards on any such street and cause obstruction, the owner of the land to which the same is attached shall, within eight days after notice from the Justices to that effect, cause the same to be altered so as not to open outwards and cause obstruction; and if he neglects so to do, the Justices may make such alteration, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by such owner.

Troughs and pipes to be fixed to houses.

154. The owner of every house in any public street shall, within fifteen days after notice from the Justices to that effect, put up, and keep in good condition, proper troughs and pipes for catching and carrying the water from the roof and other parts of such house and for discharging the same in such manner as the Justices shall direct.

Projections erected in future from houses, to be removed.

155. The Justices may give notice in writing to the owner or occupier of any house to remove or alter any projection, encroachment, or obstruction, which shall be erected or placed against or in front of such house and such owner or occupier shall, within fifteen days after the service of such notice upon him, remove such projection, encroachment, or obstruction, or alter the same in such manner as shall have been directed by the Justices; and in default thereof the Justices may remove such projection, encroachment, or obstruction, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner or occupier making default.

Provided that, when the expense shall have been paid by the occupier, except in the case in which such projections, encroachments, or obstructions were made or put up by him, the occupier shall be entitled to deduct the expense of removing or altering the same from the rent payable by him to the owner of the house.

Removal of existing projections from houses.

156. The Justices may cause any such projection, encroachment, or obstruction, as is mentioned in the last preceding section, to be removed or altered as they think fit; provided that they give notice of such intended removal or alteration to the occupier of the house against or in front of which such projection, encroachment, or obstruction shall be, thirty days before such alteration or removal is begun;

and if such projection, encroachment, or obstruction shall have been lawfully made, they shall make reasonable compensation to every person who suffers damage by such removal or alteration; and if any dispute shall arise touching the amount of such compensation, the same shall be settled in the manner hereinafter provided for the settlement of disputes respecting damages and expenses.

Justices may allow certain projections from houses.

157. The Justices may give permission in writing to the owners or occupiers of houses abutting on public streets to put up verandahs, balconies, sunshades, weather-frames, and the like, to project from any upper story thereof over the street, to an extent not exceeding five feet from the foundation.

Roofs and external walls of huts not to be made of inflammable materials.

158. The external roofs and walls of houses erected or renewed within the Town shall not be made of grass, leaves, mats, or other such inflammable materials; nor shall the owner of any house in or near any street, having an external roof or wall made of any such material, and which is contiguous to or adjoining to any other house suffer such roof or wall to remain unless with the consent in writing of the Justices.

Houses in a ruinous and dangerous state.

159. If, in any street, any house, or wall, or anything affixed thereon, be deemed by the Justices to be in a ruinous state, or likely to fall, or in any way dangerous to the inhabitants of such house or to the neighbouring houses, or to the occupiers thereof, or to passengers, they shall immediately, if it appears to them to be necessary, cause a proper board or fence to be put up for the protection of passengers, and shall cause notice in writing to be given to the owner, if he be known and resident within the limits of their jurisdiction, and shall also cause such notice to be put on the door or other conspicuous part of such house or otherwise to be given to the occupier thereof (if any), requiring such owner or occupier forthwith to take down, repair, or secure, such house, wall, or thing affixed thereon as the case shall require.

If such owner or occupier do not begin to take down, repair, or secure the same within three days after such notice, and complete such work with due diligence, the Justices shall cause all or so much of such house, wall, or thing as they shall think necessary, to be taken down, repaired, or otherwise secured; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner.

Sale of materials of ruinous houses.

160. If any such house, or wall, as is mentioned in the last preceding section, or any part of the same, be taken down as in such section mentioned, the Justices may sell the materials thereof or so much of the same as shall be taken down, and apply the proceeds of such sale in payment of the expenses incurred, and shall restore any surplus arising from such sale to the owner of such house, or wall, on demand.

The Justices shall have the same remedies for compelling the payment of so much of the said expenses as may remain due after the application of the proceeds of such sale as by this Act are given to them for compelling the payment of the whole of the said expenses.

Justices may direct hedges to be trimmed.

161. The Justices may give notice to the owner or occupier of any land to trim or prune the hedges thereof bordering on any public street to a height not exceeding seven feet; to cut and trim trees overhanging any public street and obstructing the same or causing damage thereto; and if such notice is not complied with within eight days from the date thereof, the Justices may cause such hedges and trees to be cut in the manner required, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner of the land.

No one to deposit materials or make hole in the street.

162. No person shall deposit any building materials, or make a hole in any street, without the permission of the Justices; and when such permission is granted to any person, he shall, at his own expense, cause such materials, or such hole, to be sufficiently fenced and enclosed, until the materials are removed or the hole is filled up and otherwise made secure; and shall cause the same to be sufficiently lighted at night.

PART II.—Of the Drains.

Public sewers, drains, &c., vested in the Justices.

163. All public sewers and drains, and all sewers, drains, tunnels, and culverts, in, alongside, or under the streets, whether made at the cost of the Justices or otherwise, and all works, materials, and things appertaining thereto, shall become vested in the Justices.

Powers of Justices in making public sewers.

164. The Justices, in making any main or other sewers for the drainage of the Town, may, if necessary, carry such sewers through, across, or under any street, or any place laid out as, or intended for, a street, or any cellar or vault which may be under any of the streets, and (after reasonable notice in writing in that behalf) into, through, or under any land whatsoever, making full compensation for any damage done thereby; and if any dispute shall arise with respect to the amount or apportionment of such compensation, the same shall be settled in the manner hereinafter provided for the settlement of disputes respecting damages and expenses.

Justices to repair and alter and close sewers.

165. The Justices shall maintain, and from time to time repair, and as they see fit, enlarge, alter, arch over, or otherwise improve all or any of the sewers and drains vested in them:

and may discontinue, close up, or destroy such of them as they may deem useless or unnecessary.

If by reason of anything done under this section, any person is deprived of the lawful use of any sewer or drain, the Justices shall, at a place within one hundred feet of the sewer or drain, of the use of which he is deprived, provide the means of drainage into some public sewer, tidal river, or other place into which the Justices are empowered to empty their sewers, and thereupon the owner shall make a drain leading thereunto, of such materials, of such size, at such level, and with such fall, as the Justices shall direct; and if he neglect to do so within a reasonable time, the Justices may cause the same to be done, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner.

Cleansing and emptying sewers.

166. The Justices shall, so far as the Municipal Fund permits, cause the sewers and drains vested in them to be so constructed, maintained, and kept, as not to be a nuisance or injurious to health, and to be properly cleared, cleansed, and emptied; and for the purpose of flushing, cleansing, and emptying the same, may construct and place, either above or underground, such reservoirs, sluices, engines, and other necessary works;

and may also, with the sanction of the Local Government, cause all or any of such sewers and drains to communicate with, and be emptied into, any tidal river or other fit place, or cause the refuse from such sewers and drains to be conveyed by a proper channel to the most convenient site for its deposit, and may sell the same for any agricultural or other purpose as may be deemed most expedient, but so that the same shall not become a nuisance.

Bed of stream receiving sewerage to be cleared.

167. When the contents of any sewer or drain or any other flow or filth or refuse, are discharged into any river or stream, in the bed or channel of which the quantity of water at any season of the year is so much diminished, by natural or artificial causes, as to be insufficient to keep such channel clean or clear, the Justices, with the sanction of the Local Government, so far as the Municipal Fund permits, shall make such alteration in the bed of such river or stream as may prevent such sewer and drain-water from spreading over the surface of such bed, or from accumulating and stagnating in parts thereof, to the injury of health or the annoyance of the surrounding population.

Unauthorized drains leading into public sewers may be demolished.

168. If any person, without the written consent of the Justices first obtained, makes or causes to be made, or alters or causes to be altered, any drain leading into any of the sewers or drains vested in the Justices, the Justices may cause such branch-drain to be demolished, altered, re-made, or otherwise dealt with as they shall think fit; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the person making or altering such branch-drain.

House over sewers, &c., not to be erected without consent of the Justices.

169. No house shall be newly erected over any sewer or drain belonging to the Justices without their written consent; and if any house be so erected, the Justices may cause such house to be pulled down or otherwise dealt with as they may think fit; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the person so erecting the house.

Justices empowered to make drains from houses which are not properly drained.

170. If any land within the Town and within a reasonable distance of a sewer fit for use, or of some tidal river or other place at which the Justices are empowered to empty their sewers, be at any time not drained to the satisfaction of the Justices by a sufficient drain or pipe communicating with some sewer, tidal river, or other place as aforesaid, the Justices may, if the owner neglects to do so within fifteen days after notice, construct or lay from such land, a covered drain or pipe, of such materials, of such size, at such level, and with such fall, as they shall think necessary for the draining of such land; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner.

Level of houses hereafter built within the Town.

171. No house shall be built within the Town upon a lower level than will allow of the drainage of such house or building being led into some public sewer then existing or projected, or into some tidal river or other place into which the Justices are empowered to empty their sewers.

Houses hereafter built to have drains constructed under the orders of the Justices.

172. The Justices may cause the works mentioned in sections 165, 170, and 172 to be supervised while in progress, and from time to time during their execution to order such reasonable alterations therein, additions thereto, and abandonment of part or parts thereof, as may to the Justices appear, on the fuller knowledge afforded by the opening of the ground, requisite to secure the complete and satisfactory execution of such works as aforesaid.

Group or block of houses, &c., may be drained by a combined operation.

175. If it appear to the Justices that a group or block of houses may be drained or improved more economically or advantageously in combination than separately, and a sewer of sufficient size already exists, or is about to be constructed, within one hundred feet of any part of such group or block of houses, the Justices may cause such group or block of houses to be drained and improved by a combined operation; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owners of such houses in such proportions as shall to the Justices seem fit.

178. All branch-drains, as well within as without the land to which they belong, and all privies and cess-pools within the Town, shall be under the survey and control of the Justices, and shall be altered, repaired, stopped up, demolished, and kept in proper order at the costs and charges of the owner of the land to which the same belong, or for the use of which they are constructed or continued; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner.

and if, upon such inspection it appears that such drain, privy, or cess-pool is not in good order and condition, or that it has been constructed contrary to the provisions of this Act, the expenses of such inspection shall be paid by the person to whom such drain, privy, or cess-pool may belong:

but if the drain, privy, or cess-pool be found to be in proper order and condition, and not to have been constructed in violation of the provisions of this Act, the Justices or Officer as aforesaid shall cause the ground to be closed and made good as soon as may be, and the expenses of opening, closing, and making good such drain, privy, or cess-pool, shall, in that case be paid by the Justices.

and if he shall refuse or fail to comply with such requisition within eight days from the service thereof, the Justices, their Officers, and workmen, may enter into the said premises, and do all necessary acts for all or any of the purposes aforesaid as they shall think fit;

Power of Justices as to existing huts.

188. Whenever the Justices are satisfied, from inspection, or by report of competent persons, that any existing block of huts in the Town, is, by reason of the manner in which the huts are crowded together, or of the want of drainage and the impracticability of scavengering, attended with risk of disease to the inhabitants or the neighbourhood, they may, with the sanction of the Local Government, cause a notice to be fixed to some conspicuous part of such block of huts, requiring the owners or occupiers thereof, or at the option of the Justices, the owner of the land on which such huts are built, within a reasonable time to be fixed by the Justices for that purpose, to execute such operations as the Justices, with such sanction as aforesaid, may deem necessary for the avoidance of such risk.

and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the person failing to comply with the provisions aforesaid.

If Justices fail to signify approval, &c., within fourteen days, parties may proceed without.

193. If the Justices fail to signify in writing their approval or disapproval of the levels shown on such plan as is mentioned in the last preceding section, and to fix other levels within fourteen days after receiving such notice and plan as aforesaid, the person giving such notice may, notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, proceed to build or re-build the house therein referred to, according to the levels shown on such plan:

I of 1872 ..	Extending borrowing powers of the Justices and providing for the repayment of the municipal debt	The whole Act.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE object of this Bill is chiefly to consolidate the law relating to the municipal affairs of Calcutta, which is now scattered over ten Acts of the Council, and which in some instances has been found to be difficult of interpretation, consequent on the provisions of all the Acts not being quite consistent with each other.

The opportunity has been taken to make some amendments which the practical working of the law has proved to be necessary. The most important of these amendments is in relation to the water-supply, which, owing to the increased requirements of the town and the wastage consequent on defective fittings and carelessness in using the water, is not sufficient to enable the Justices to fulfil the obligations which the existing law imposes upon them in respect of keeping up the supply at high pressure throughout the day. It is believed that the amendments proposed by the Bill in this respect are such as will not cause much inconvenience to the public.

In order to enable the Justices to increase the water-supply works, the maximum of the annual water-rate has been raised from five to six per cent.

Another amendment of some importance is a proposal to raise the maximum of the lighting-rate from 2 to 2½ per cent., as the proceeds from the present maximum rate are not sufficient to meet the current expenses connected with the lighting of the town.

The Bill does not propose to deal with the question of allowing an appeal from assessments made by the Justices. Such a proposal must necessarily raise questions as to the tribunal to which the appeals should be made, and the form of procedure that should be provided for regulating the conduct of such appeals. It is thought better, therefore, to leave the determination of this question for the consideration of a Select Committee.

It has also been left for determination by the Select Committee whether the Acts for the regulation of markets in Calcutta should be included in this consolidation measure, or whether they should be allowed to stand as regulating a special subject, which is not so intimately connected with the municipal government of the town as to render it necessary that the law for the government of markets should be a part and parcel of a general municipal enactment.

The mean barometer, as likewise the dry and wet bulb thermometer, means are derived from the twenty-four hourly observations made during the day.

The dew-point is computed with the Greenwich constants. The figures in column 10 represent the humidity of the air, the complete saturation of which being taken at unity. The receiver of the lower rain gauge is 1½ feet, and that of the anemometer 70 feet 10 inches above the level of the ground. The velocity of wind, as indicated by Robinson's anemometer, is registered from noon to noon.

STATEMENT OF THE COURSE OF LEGISLATION.

His Honor the President said: "As the Council is about to adjourn for a time, I think the present will be a suitable opportunity of reminding hon'ble members of the legislative programme which I presented to the Council on the 19th December last, that is about three and a half months ago, and also of calling to the recollection of hon'ble members the progress which we have made in carrying out that programme. Well, the Council will remember that on the 19th December last I had the honor of making a statement, which statement included the following measures:—The amendment of the excise law; the voluntary registration of Mahomedan marriages and divorces; the alteration of the Jute Warehouse and Fire-brigade Act; the summary recovery of grain advances made by Government during the late famine; the appointment of managers in joint undivided estates; the compulsory registration of possessory titles in land; some additional improvements in the law for the sale of estates for arrears of land revenue; some emendation of the Act for the realization of arrears in Government estates; the simplification and improvement of the law relating to the private partition (or "butwara") of estates paying revenue to Government; the introduction of a law providing for the requirements both of the State and of the people in respect to canals of navigation and irrigation in Bengal, Behar, and Orissa; the consolidation of the laws regarding municipalities in the interior of the country under the Government of Bengal; the consolidation and amendment of the law relating to the municipality of Calcutta; the improvement of the Act concerning boilers and prime-movers; the introduction of a Bill regarding the recovery of the cost of boundary pillars, and other matters connected with village surveys in Bengal; the alteration of the law relating both to regular police and village police; the re-enactment, with suitable modifications, of the old laws regarding the levy, by private persons, of cesses on navigable rivers, high roads, and market-places; and possibly the application of the law regarding port-dues to some of the ports in Orissa and other parts of Bengal.

Well, that being the programme which was proposed for the acceptance of the Council, I will just for a moment remind hon'ble members of the progress which has been made in each and all of the above-mentioned heads, following the order of subjects which was observed in the opening statement. First, then, the Bill regarding the amendment of the Abkaree Acts has received the best consideration of Mr. Alonso Money, the Member of the Board of Revenue who had charge of that department; and after further consideration by the Government, a Bill has been drafted and has been transmitted for the previous assent of His Excellency the Governor-General. The Council will recollect that, under the provisions of the Indian Councils' Act, this Bill being one which relates to the imperial revenue, it is necessary to obtain the previous assent of the Governor-General; that assent has accordingly been asked for.

The next Bill, to provide for the voluntary registration of Mahomedan marriages and divorces, has, as hon'ble members will recollect, received the constant and repeated attention of this Council. The best authorities upon the subject of Mahomedan law, both at Calcutta and in the mofussil, have been consulted. The Council had over and over again considered and reconsidered the wording of every clause which affected the interests or the feelings and sentiments of the people concerned, and it has now, I may say, been finally settled in Council. We have done our best to render it a Bill suitable for the purpose in view, and acceptable to the persons and classes concerned.

The next Bill, for the amendment of the Jute Act, has been passed in Council, and has received the assent of the Governor-General.

The next is a Bill to provide for the summary realization of loans of money and grain advances made by Government during the late famine. It has also been passed in Council after special consideration by the Select Committee, who had the advantage of having before them evidence obtained from the districts in question.

The next proposed law for appointing managers in joint undivided estates has not yet been submitted to the Council. The reason is that under instructions which we received from the Government of India, which instructions I had the honor to read to the Council in December last, we had to refer the measure back to the districts in the mofussil for the purpose of again consulting the various interests concerned, both zemindars and ryots; and as the Council will imagine, it takes a long time to collect replies from districts so many and so distant. And though we have collected a mass of various opinions, we have not yet been able to weld them into a shape fit for submission to the Council. But the matter is well in hand, and I hope before long we shall be able to submit an appropriate measure.

Then the Bill to provide for the compulsory registration of possessory titles in land has been drafted, and leave has been obtained in Council to introduce it. But it has been thought desirable, before proceeding further, to send the draft for the opinion of several Collectors; and those opinions are now being received, and I hope the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill will soon be able to submit it to the Council.

The next measure is a Bill to improve the sale law. It has not yet been submitted to the Council. The measure will, I think, prove to be not a very large one. The fact is that on consideration we found the sale law does not require very much amendment; but such amendments as can be suggested in justice to the owners of estates that may probably come into this predicament,— these amendments, I say, will be borne in mind, and I hope that shortly a short measure will be submitted to the Council.

The next is a Bill to provide for the realization of arrears in Government estates. It has been passed in Council, and has received the assent of the Governor-General.

Then comes a Bill to make better provision for the partition of estates paying revenue to Government, known as the Butwara law. It has been read in Council, and has been drafted in considerable detail, and with very great care, by the hon'ble member in charge, and is now before a very competent Select Committee.

The next is a Bill to provide for irrigation and canal navigation. It was read in Council, and has been referred to a Select Committee.

The Bill regarding the consolidation of the law relating to municipalities in the interior of Bengal has been also drafted with very great labour to those concerned. Leave has been granted to introduce it into Council, and I hope shortly to hear of its being referred to a Select Committee.

The Bill for the consolidation of the municipal law of Calcutta has also been drafted with great care and pains. It has been read in Council and referred to a Select Committee, and I trust that various additional improvements or possible changes in the constitution of the municipality will be considered by the Select Committee, and some decision will be arrived at in the course of the next session as to whether any changes in the municipal constitution are or are not really required.

The Bill to amend the Bengal Act relating to boilers and prime-movers has been passed in Council, and has been forwarded for the assent of the Governor-General.

Then a Bill regarding surveys and boundary pillars, the main object of which is to provide for the recovery of the cost of these boundary pillars, has been read in Council and referred to a Select Committee.

As regards the amendment of Act V of 1861, the regulation of the police—I mean the regular police as contradistinguished from the village police—nothing has been done in this Council regarding that. As the Council will remember, I explained in December last that it was doubtful whether it would be within the competence of this Council to proceed with legislation in that matter, considering the orders we have received from the Government of India. I have since had the advantage of very carefully considering this subject with the Inspector-General of Police, and I certainly am convinced that some legislation, either in this Council or in that of the Governor-General of India, will be necessary. I hope in the course of a short time to be able to inform this Council as to whether we shall attempt to proceed with legislation here, or whether we shall recommend that the matter be undertaken elsewhere.

As regards the village police, after further consultation with the authorities concerned, we have arrived at the conclusion that it is not necessary at present to trouble this Council with any proposal on the subject. We find that the law passed in 1870 on this subject was a very carefully prepared measure, which received the assent not only of the most experienced officers of Bengal at the time, but also the approval, after some discussion, of several native members of this Council,—gentlemen who represent some of the greatest landed interests in the country. That being the case, we find that this law has been as yet but partially carried out: that is to say, it was brought into operation in only a very few districts or portions of districts, and that a further trial of its working must be had in other districts before I can undertake to say that there are any defects in the law, and before I can venture to propose any amendment of it for the consideration of the Council.

The next measure proposed was the re-enactment of the old laws for the prohibition of the levy of illegal cesses in navigable rivers, high roads, and market-places, and for the regulation of such cesses as may be found equitable and lawful. Here also no measure has yet been submitted to the Council, but the matter has been undertaken by our hon'ble colleague Mr. Schalch, and I have no doubt that, with his knowledge and experience of the subject, he will before long be able to produce a suitable measure, which will simply be a re-enactment of the old law, which dates, I think, from 1790, with such suitable alterations or additions as may be called for by the circumstances of the present day.

As regards the ports of Orissa, the application to them of the law for levying port-dues, regarding which it was thought possible we might have to come here for legislation, the Council will have subsequently perceived that the levy of these dues in all ports in Bengal has been fully provided for by the Ports' Act, passed by the imperial legislature for the whole of British India.

So much for the measures which were proposed in the statement made in December last. We have since found it necessary to prepare Bills on two additional subjects. One has been to provide for a system of reformatory schools in or near the Presidency. I think all persons who feel much interested in the welfare of the rising generation will consider that it is very desirable to prevent so many persons of a tender age from growing up in vice, crime, and ignorance in the neighbourhood of so great and populous a town as Calcutta. The other Bill is to provide a more satisfactory and summary jurisdiction for the decision of suits and disputes regarding rent in cases where agrarian troubles or disturbances may be felt. I think all those who have practical acquaintance with landed affairs and interests in the interior of the country, will admit that when such troubles as those which occurred the year before last in parts of Bengal shall arise, it is necessary that the authorities who are responsible for the order and peace of their districts should have a more complete legal power than they have at command for bringing such disputes to a speedy and satisfactory termination. I hope that before long on both these matters we shall be able to submit measures for the consideration of the Council.

The result, I think, of the statement I have now the honor of making shows that we have passed some measures, and that with many others we have made a certain amount of progress,—a considerable amount perhaps relatively to the shortness of the time. But the statement also shows that we have still many measures in hand, and that constant and assiduous efforts will be required from the Council in general, and from hon'ble members in particular, in order to arrive at a satisfactory position during the next session.

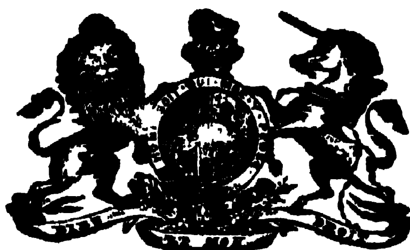
The first Bill for immediate consideration in Council is that relating to canals of irrigation and navigation both in Bengal, Behar, and Orissa. I trust that in the course of a month or two, or three at the most, this measure may pass the Council.

Next after that I hope that progress will be made by the Council at its sittings from time to time with the Bills relating to excise, surveys and boundary marks, and the sale law. These will not be very long or extensive Bills, and I hope it will not be taxing unduly the time, attention, and patience of the Council if I ask you to proceed with these Bills with as much speed as may be convenient.

There remains the Mofussil Municipal Bill, which I hope will soon be referred to a Select Committee, and perhaps be advanced some stages during the ensuing months, and possibly passed by the Council within a comparatively brief time.

Besides these there are some long and heavy measures, which I believe will occupy the time of the Select Committees during the whole of the summer. These are the measures relating to the management of joint undivided estates, the registration of possessory titles in land, the law of partition of estates, and the Calcutta municipal law. But still I am sure we may trust to the industry of very competent and able Select Committees that have been, or will be, appointed for the consideration of these Bills, to advance them to such a stage that they shall be passed during the ensuing winter session.

And besides these, as I have already said, we may have to trouble you with Bills regarding the regular police, the regulation of private cesses on rivers, high roads, and market-places, the summary jurisdiction of rent suits, and the establishment of reformatories.



This, then, is the substance of what I have to state regarding the present and immediate future of our legislation. I need not say that while we endeavour to do what is necessary in every direction, we shall also carefully avoid anything like over-legislation. It is sufficient for us to take up measures as they appear to be called for either by the state of public opinion, or the actual needs and circumstances of the country. We must bear in mind that this is an old established province, with a settled administration, and that extensive and speedy changes are not likely to be required. We may also bear in mind that of late years a great number of extensive improvements have been commenced. Still we cannot afford to stand quiet without moving. We know that stagnation generally ends in retrogression: and we must therefore vigilantly watch for the means of carrying out such progress and such reforms as may be legitimately called for. The best endeavours of the Government of Bengal will be directed to this object; and I am sure that in giving effect to it, we may count on the assistance and co-operation of the many experienced gentlemen who sit in this Council, and represent such important and varied interests.

I think the progress we have been able to make during the last three months shows how very necessary it was to obtain the exclusive services and undivided attention of our excellent colleague, Mr. Dampier. I am sure we are also much indebted for the learning, assiduity, and constant attention to the several consolidation measures which have been drafted by our learned Secretary, Mr. Millett. As he is going away for a short time, I feel confident that the talents and aptitude of his successor will in some degree fill the gap which will be made by his (Mr. Millett's) departure. And as I am obliged to proceed elsewhere for the present, I am sure during my absence, whenever the Council may have to meet, the experience and ability of our hon'ble colleague Mr. Schalch, as President in my absence and in my place, will be given to the measures that may be pending before this Council."

The Council was adjourned to a day of which notice will be given.

FOR the purpose of providing an inquiry into disputes between zemindars and ryots regarding the rent payable by the ryots in certain estates, and of preventing agrarian disturbances: It is enacted as follows:—

Local extent.

1. This Act extends to all the territories subject to the government of the Lieutenant-Governor. of Bengal

Interpretation.

2. In this Act, unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context—

"Lieutenant-Governor" means the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, or the person acting in that capacity.

"Board" means the Board of Revenue for the provinces subject to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

"Collector" (except in section four of this Act) includes—

(a) The Collector of a district;

(b) Any officer specially vested with the powers of a Collector under this Act;

(c) Any officer specially empowered as an Assistant or Deputy Collector under this Act:

Provided that no such last mentioned officer shall exercise any function under this Act except such as may be delegated to him by a general or special order of the Collector.

"Estate" includes—

(a) Any land subject to the payment of revenue for the discharge of which a separate engagement has been or may be entered into with Government.

(b) Any land which is entered in the revenue-roll as separately assessed with the public revenue, although no engagement has been entered into with Government for the amount of revenue so separately assessed upon it as a whole, as in cases in which the estate may be directly managed by a tehsildar on the part of Government.

"Revenue-free tenure" means any rent-free land which is entered in the Collector's Register of revenue-free lands as a separate tenure.

Lieutenant-Governor may declare an estate under inquiry.

3. Whenever it appears to the Lieutenant-Governor, from the representations of the zemindars or of the ryots, that a serious dispute exists in any estate or revenue-free tenure as to the rent payable under sections five and seventeen of Act No. X of 1859 (to amend the law relating to the recovery of Rent in the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal), or under section five or section eighteen of Bengal Act No. VIII of 1869 (to amend the procedure in suits between Landlord and Tenants), by any ryots; or as to the size of any unit or standard of measurement to which any rate of rent at any time prevalent, is or was referable; or as to any other question in respect of the adjustment of rents, or as to arrears of rents;

the Lieutenant-Governor may, if he considers that such a course is necessary for the maintenance of the peace and for good government generally, by notification direct that inquiry be made for the determination of such dispute.

From the date of the publication of such notification this Act shall be deemed to be in force in such estate or revenue-free tenure, until the Lieutenant-Governor shall, by notification, declare that it is no longer in force in such estate or revenue-free tenure.

Appointment of officers with powers under this Act.

4. On the publication of a notification under the last preceding section at the Collector's office of the district in which the estate or any portion thereof is situated, the Lieutenant-Governor shall appoint the Collector, or such other officer as he may think fit, for the purpose of making the inquiry, and may specially vest any officer with powers as an Assistant or Deputy Collector for the purpose of exercising such functions under this Act.

Lieutenant-Governor to lay down points for inquiry and determination.

5. The Lieutenant-Governor shall in each case issue instructions specifying the matters into which the Collector shall inquire in accordance with the provisions of section three of this Act.

All suits in any Court involving any matter which is to be determined under this Act to be transferred to Collector.

6. From the date fixed by the Lieutenant-Governor for the commencement of an inquiry all suits pending before any Revenue-Officer under the said Act No. X of 1859, or before any Court under the said Bengal Act No. VIII of 1869, which may involve an inquiry as to the rate at which any rent is payable in such estate or revenue-free tenure; or as to any other matter which may be specified by the Lieutenant-Governor under the last preceding section, shall be transferred to the Collector.

Power to refer to arbitration.

7. In making any inquiry under this Act, the Collector may, with the consent of the parties, refer any matter arising in such inquiry to arbitration, and the provisions of Chapter VI (relative to arbitrators) of the Code of Civil Procedure shall, as far as may be practicable, apply to such references.

Collector to report proposals for sanction of Board.

8. After making such inquiry as may be necessary, the Collector shall (subject to the control of the Commissioner of the Division and the Board) make an order with respect to the matters necessary to be determined.

All suits connected with rent to be instituted before Collector only.

9. As long as this Act is in force in any estate or revenue-free tenure the suits specified in section twenty-three of the said Act No. X of 1859, shall, as regards such estate or revenue-free tenure, be cognizable by the Collector, and by no other tribunal.

Such suit may be brought by or against any number of ryots collectively.

10. Whenever an application for enhancement or abatement of rent, against or by any number of ryots, is brought before the Collector, such ryots may be sued or may sue collectively, and it shall be no ground for dismissing or refusing to hear the application that such ryots are wrongly joined as plaintiffs or defendants, provided all such ryots cultivate in the same estate; but no order shall be passed in such case in which enhancement, or abatement, of rent is claimed, unless the officer making such order is satisfied that all parties have had an opportunity to appear and make objection to any claims preferred against them.

Order to specify how far it applies to each.

11. Every order passed in any such case as is mentioned in the last preceding section shall specify the extent to which each of the ryots named in the order shall be affected thereby.

Rate of rent once fixed under Act, to be fixed for ten years.

12. The rent fixed by order of the Collector as aforesaid shall be payable from the beginning of the year in which the inquiry was made, and shall not be liable to abatement or enhancement, but shall remain fixed for ten years from the first day of such year, or in case of a temporarily-settled estate, until the conclusion of the period of settlement of the estate, if the period expires before the lapse of ten years as aforesaid.

Provided that, during the currency of the term for which the rent has been fixed as aforesaid, the landholder may bring a suit to enhance the rent of any ryot whose rent has been so fixed, on one of the following grounds and no other:

(a)—That the area of the ryot's holding has been increased by alluvion or otherwise; or (b)—That the productive powers of the land held by the ryot have, since the date of the order, been increased otherwise than by the agency or at the expense of the ryot.

And the ryot may bring a suit for abatement of his rent on one of the following grounds and on no other:

(c)—That the area of the land held by him has been diminished by diluvion or otherwise; or (d)—That the productive powers of such land have been decreased by any cause beyond his control.

Power to Collector to enforce attendance of witnesses.

13. For the purpose of any inquiry under this Act, the Collector shall have power to summon and enforce the attendance of witnesses and compel the production of documents, by the same means (as far as may be) and in the same manner as is provided in the case of a Court under the Code of Civil Procedure.

Procedure in suits.

14. In the disposal of suits under this Act, the Collector shall, as far as possible, follow the procedure prescribed in the said Act No. X of 1859, and all powers exercised by the Collector under such Act, may be exercised by the Collector under this Act.

Rates settled under this Act to be judicially recognized.

15. In every case in which the rates payable in any estate shall have been settled under this Act, every court of justice shall judicially recognize such rates as the rates which were fairly and equitably payable by ryots of that class for land of that quality at the time when the Collector made the order under section eight of this Act.

Board with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor, may make rules.

16. The Board, subject to the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor, may from time to time make rules consistent with this Act for—

(a) prescribing the manner in which the Collector shall make inquiries and report for sanction their proposals;

(b) and generally for the guidance of all persons in matters connected with the enforcement of this Act.

The objects and reasons of this Bill are fully set out in the following Minute of the Lieutenant-Governor.

H. L. DAMPIER.

The 21st April 1875.

Minute by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, dated 16th March 1875.

FOR some time past there have been indications of renewed uneasiness and uncertainty here and there in some parts of Bengal, more especially Eastern Bengal, in the relations between landlord and tenant, particularly touching the rates of rent. I say renewed, because it will be in the recollection of all who are conversant with these affairs that there were troubles of this sort in 1873, which showed themselves markedly in the Pubna district.

2. The Government of India, in a despatch, No. 413 of the 23rd September 1873, reviewed the correspondence which had taken place regarding the Pubna troubles, and communicated general instructions to the Government of Bengal. Among those instructions there occurs the following passage: –

"The policy of altering or enlarging revenue jurisdictions under Act X of 1859 and similar laws will however, require careful deliberation. Meanwhile, if the dissensions in the Pubna districts are ascertained to be spreading and becoming organized, the difficulties which they present will have to be met at once. In that event, the more direct and comprehensive way of treating them may be by passing a law which would authorize the appointment of a special commission vested with powers to investigate summarily the differences between landlord and tenant, or between various proprietors and occupants of the soil in certain districts, and to settle them by award that shall not be open to appeal. His Excellency in Council believes that such a measure for the solution of exceptional difficulties of the kind now arising would not be without precedent in Bengal.

"These, then, of the plans of action suggested by the papers now before the Government, are those which appear the most readily practicable and the most likely to succeed."

3. These and other instructions were subsequently approved by the Secretary of State.

4. Although the procedure above indicated might be susceptible of some improvement in detail, so as to be more exactly adapted to the custom and practice in provinces which are under a permanent settlement, still the principle of the above instruction is precisely applicable to contingencies which are arising, or seem likely to arise, and affords, as I believe, the only means of obviating the chance of the recurrence of agrarian troubles in Bengal.

5. There are occasionally complaints on the part of ryots and on the part of zemindars in some portions of the districts around Calcutta or in Central Bengal At the present time, however, such complaints on both sides are more rife and more extensive in Eastern and South-Eastern Bengal. This may be illustrated by the following extracts from the Dacca Commissioner's annual report dated the 12th September 1874: –

"Para. 26. Class feeling has not shown itself prominently or in any overt way during the year of report; but district officers report that there are not wanting indications of very unsatisfactory relations between some landlords and their tenants on the question of rent. The landlords see the ryots profiting largely by the enhanced value of the produce of what they regard as their property, and they desire, not unnaturally, to intercept some portion of this increased return some way or other; the action taken by the authorities against the levy of illegal cesses leads them further to desire to place this demand on the safe footing of higher rents.

"Formerly this course would have been effected by gradually getting the ryots over to agree, on the ground of their increased profits, to submit to an enhanced demand of rent; but now such attempts are steadily and passively resisted by the tenantry in combination. The landlords' agents send for them, they ignore the summons altogether; they go further, and withhold all rents, and virtually decline any communications whatever with their landlords except through the medium of the courts.

"27. To have to sue the entire body of his tenantry in any large estate is ruinous work to the landlord; his position, therefore forces him to do all that conciliatory measures can achieve, and so grave complications are for the time being tided over; but I apprehend that an open rupture must come sooner or later. The state of things to which I have referred is unfortunately not confined to any particular tract of country; it exists more or less in each of the four principal districts of this division."

6. The annual report of the Commissioner of Chittagong, dated the 4th September 1874, contains the following passage:—

"Para. 62. In the Chittagong district the relations between landlord and tenant are never very cordial, and the Magistrate cites one instance in which the purchasers (Hindu zemindars and rice-traders) of a large estate, at a sale for arrears of revenue, have been unable to settle with the ryots without the assistance of the Collector, to whom they (the purchasers) made application through the Civil Court for detailed measurement and record of rights, the tenants steadily refusing to point out their lands or come to any terms. Of course the new proprietors want to enhance, and equally of course the tenants are opposed to any such proceeding."

7. Since these reports were written, agrarian trouble actually began to occur during January 1875 in the eastern portion of the Dacca district. A dispute regarding rent broke out between the zemindars and ryots, and threatened to lead to breaches of the peace. If this should not be allayed, it was feared that similar disputes might break out in some of the neighbouring districts. The Commissioner was immediately instructed to warn all parties concerned of the consequences of a breach of the peace, and to invite them to settle their differences by private arbitration. Efforts are now being made to effect such amicable arrangement: whether they will prove successful remains to be seen.

8. It is always difficult to forecast the line which an agrarian people may take, or what provocation might be given on either side But the opinion seems gaining ground among well-informed persons, that if once any considerable trouble of this nature were to break out anywhere, the movement might spread to other places. In some localities the zemindars might get the upper hand, in other places the ryots. In some localities the strength of both parties might be nearly balanced, and might be equal to sustaining a contest for some time.

All circumstances of this nature would either be altogether harmful, or else would do more harm than good.

9. In parts of Eastern Bengal there seems to be a disposition among the ryots to combine in something like leagues and unions. The object of such combinations may be various. If any success were obtained by these means, there is always a chance that ryots might begin to combine in refusing to pay rent, whereon the zemindars might try to collect it by force. The consequences of a combination with this object would be serious in the present state of Bengal. It may be hoped that things will not, under any circumstances, come to this pass; still we should guard against the possibility of such contingencies arising.

10. As yet no trouble has actually broken out since 1873, but as just seen, something of the kind was very nearly breaking out quite recently, and despite our efforts, may yet break out. And the apprehension of similar occurrences elsewhere in Bengal is, I believe, present to many thoughtful minds. It may be therefore well to consider what measures the local Government can take in the existing state of the law for doing justice to both parties and for preventing agrarian trouble.

11. In such event it could take steps for causing the disputed matters to be speedily determined by appointing additional native judges, moonsifs and others, if necessary, under the supervision of a special European judge. It could station extra police to maintain order, and ensure that the judicial enquiries should be carried out quietly. If the zemindars should attempt to act contrary to the judicial awards, it could easily apply a remedy. If the ryots should refuse compliance with the judicial decisions, and if necessity arose to execute decrees in large numbers, it could doubtless help in that process. But beyond and above all the things above mentioned, it could use its influence to prevent either party from resorting to violence, and to induce them to submit to private arbitration.

12. These resources taken together are not inconsiderable, and if we cannot get more or better resources, we must make the best of them, and with them we must essay and strive to prevent agrarian troubles in Bengal. But in these resources there are, I think, several defects which might be easily remedied.

13. It will be seen presently that among the disputed cases the most important class will relate to economic and agricultural questions with which civil courts are not well fitted to deal; yet the procedure above described is entirely that of the ordinary civil courts. Suits must be formally brought before anything is done. The cases must be carried through the regular stages; matters pertaining to the profits of cultivation, the value of produce, the customary rents, and the like, will be argued out by opposing counsels; appeals may be laid; and decisions can be enforced only by the formal process of execution. However prompt the courts might be, all these proceedings must take time; meanwhile excitement might be growing over the whole district. Moreover, the courts could not well travel beyond the evidence adduced, and might not be able to enter upon economic considerations notwithstanding that such considerations might have an important bearing upon the cases.

14. That the main questions at issue are economic and agricultural, will be apparent thus. There will seldom be any serious dispute between the tenants-at-will and the zemindars. The really serious disputes arise between the zemindars and the ryots having right of occupancy—mainly men who have been twelve years and upwards in possession; a class who are constantly growing in numbers, and representing larger and larger proportions of the aggregate of ryots, and who probably are already the most important section of the ryots. In some places the zemindars apparently allege that these occupancy ryots are paying very low rents, and consequently claim some enhancement. The occupancy ryots apparently allege that they ought not to be required to pay more than the old established rates of their part of the country. If the zemindars persist in their demands, they cannot eject the occupancy ryots, but they can sue them under section 18 of Act VIII of 1869, which I will here quote in extenso:—

"18. No ryot having a right of occupancy shall be liable to an enhancement of the rent previously paid by him, except on some one of the following grounds, namely -

"That the rate of rent paid by such ryot is below the prevailing rate payable by the same class of ryots for land of a similar description and with similar advantages in the places adjacent.

"That the value of the produce, or the productive powers of the land, have been increased otherwise than by the agency or at the expense of the ryot.

"That the quantity of land held by the ryot has been proved by measurement to be greater than the quantity for which rent has been previously paid by him."

15. The civil court then will have to decide whether all or any of the above grounds are or are not found in the particular case or class of cases. Each one of these grounds involves questions for the due settlement of which a civil court cannot be fitted, while the land revenue officers are peculiarly fitted. The third ground, involving questions of actual measurement, may be more exactly arguable than either of the other two, and the court could order a survey. Otherwise, as regards native measurements, there are frequent disputes as to the unit of local measurement, the length of the measuring rod, and the like, which had far better be referred to the land revenue authority than to any other. The first ground, involving questions whether certain other lands in places adjacent are of a similar description, or possess similar advantages with the lands of which the rent is disputed, is not one to be determined by speeches and counter-speeches of counsel, nor one to be settled by witnesses into whose evidence opinion may largely enter, and all this before a native judge who may not know, and probably would not know much of these matters. The second ground is the most difficult of all, as it involves questions whether the produce, or the productive powers of the land, have been increased otherwise than by the agency or at the expense of the ryot. These are purely economic and agricultural questions which cannot possibly be argued and discussed, and attested in a court of law with any advantage, or with any definite authority. And yet this is the very ground on which the most serious disputes are likely to arise, and is actually the ground on which the disputes in Eastern Bengal are now arising.

16. This latter point may be illustrated by presenting the substance of the dispute now pending in Eastern Bengal. There are very extensive lands of good quality in the valley of the river Megna, of which the rent has been at the rate of 12 annas to 14 annas per beegha. The zemindars say that this rate is very low, and demand an enhancement up to 18 annas and 20 annas. The cultivators, chiefly occupancy ryots, refuse to pay any enhancement upon the established and widely prevailing rate. If the dispute is to have a legal solution, the zemindars will have to bring a suit against the ryots under the section 18 of Act VIII of 1869 above quoted, and according to one or other of the three grounds already adverted to. It is not probable that much difficulty will arise in this instance regarding the first and third grounds, namely the amount of land in the cultivator's possession and the general prevalence of the 12 annas to 14 annas rate. The contest must be upon the second of the three grounds, namely that the value of the produce and productive powers of the land having been increased otherwise than by the agency or at the expense of the ryot. This ground involves general considerations regarding the past and present state of Eastern Bengal; the progress of trade, especially the export trade; the range of prices on the one hand, and on the other hand the expenses of cultivation; the just share of the ryot in the profits of cultivation, the general tendency of rural custom, and the like. It is not easy to imagine matters less suited for discussion in the law courts when the people are becoming angry on both sides. Manifestly the proper persons to bring these urgent matters to a just and peaceful issue are the Collector and his officers. It should be their business, after a general review of the circumstances, to arrive at a conclusion as to whether the 12 annas to 14 annas rate per beegha ought to be maintained as the ryots say, or be raised to 18 to 20 annas as the zemindars say; and if not, then whether it should be raised to something between 14 annas and 18 annas. Or better still, they should try to induce the parties to submit the matter to private arbitration and abide by its results. And they ought to be able to compel obedience from both parties to any decision that may be formed, which they at present have not the lawful power to do, and which they may not, we fear, be able to do.

17. I present this case as an instance, which is now in the course of occurrence. The instances which occurred in the Pubna district during 1873 were apparently more difficult, involving questions under all of the three grounds above prescribed. And cases equally difficult may occur at any time in other parts of Bengal.

18. I do not enter into any question as to the fitness or otherwise of the civil courts to decide these matters in individual disputes in times of quiet. I only say that the courts cannot be so well fitted as the land revenue officers to decide these matters affecting large numbers of excitable people on both sides in times of disquiet. In these matters of urgency my desire is to obtain power by law to do through the land revenue officers—that is, the Commissioners, the Collectors, and the Deputy Collectors, under the supervision of the Board of Revenue—that which in these cases is needful for the peace and good government of the country without proposing any general change of the existing rent law.

19. By the present rent law (VIII of 1869, Bengal Council) the suits regarding rent are heard by the civil courts. They used to be heard by the land revenue authorities, but they were by this Act transferred to the civil courts. Many authorities consider that this transfer was not expedient. The zemindars (as I understand) generally dislike the change that was then made, and would desire to see these suits retransferred to the revenue authorities. It is difficult to gauge the opinion of the ryots in regard to the transfer of these suits to the civil courts; I have no evidence, however, that they dislike it. I believe that the civil courts have done the work well according to the existing law, and have at least endeavoured to do substantial justice. Still, my own opinion inclines to be against the transfer that was made in 1869. I apprehend that the speedy and judicious decision of suits between landlord and tenant is very important to the future tranquillity of Bengal, and that the land revenue authorities are much better fitted than the civil courts can be to decide these suits to the advantage of both parties concerned. As, however, the law was passed in 1869, I am not disposed to move for its being essentially altered; although, if the general wish should hereafter prove to be favorable to such alteration, I for one should not be able to object to consider the question.

20. But I recommend that the local Government should have the power, upon good cause shown, of appointing the Collector or other officer to settle authoritatively disputes of the nature above described, and to enforce awards. There need not be any power taken to interfere unduly between landlord and tenant, but only when the parties might apply for our interposition, and when such interposition might appear necessary for peace and good government. There would be no necessity for giving more power to the Collector in fixing rents and rent rates than that which is given by the existing rent law to the courts of justice. There would be nothing of a one-sided character in the matter. The zemindar might make application, so might the ryots. Sometimes one of the two parties might avail itself of this advantage, sometimes the other. The interposition need not extend beyond certain limits, and would be limited to matters of rent and its rates, and the measurement of land as affecting such rents. Within the declared area of interference, and during the period of its duration (all which would be determined by the local Government), the Collector would, after due inquiry, and after hearing both parties, fix the rates of rent according to the circumstances, and with such guidance as the existing laws might afford him, and decide suits for rent, both current dues and arrears. The Collector should also have the power of fixing the disputed rents for a short term of years, so that there might be no chance of need arising for again exercising interposition within a reasonable period. The matters thus decided would not be open to revision by the civil courts, but appeals would lie to the Commissioner and to the Board. It might be thought that the parties, zemindars and ryots, or either party as the local Government might direct, might be charged with the expenses incurred by the State by these proceedings; I do not, however, recommend this. The Collectors and the Deputy Collectors—in fact the existing establishment—would be able to do the work, which would not be of constant occurrence. For these objects I have prepared a draft Bill which I should be glad to introduce into the local legislature of Bengal. If this Bill, with such modifications or improvements as might be made during its passage through Council, should become law with the assent of the Governor-General, then, for all ordinary times and occasions, the Acts (VIII of 1869 and X of 1859) would remain in force as the rent law of Bengal. The difference between the present and proposed practice would be this, that we should have the legal power, which we have not now, of dealing effectively with agrarian troubles through the agency of the land revenue authorities. It is only by such agency that the occurrence of these troubles is or can be prevented in Bengal. At present such prevention is effected at the best in a precarious and uncertain way: perhaps it may not always be effected. But if the proposed Bill were to become law, the land revenue authorities would have power to prevent such trouble breakingout, and would be under responsibility for such prevention, which responsibility they would, I believe, be able to discharge to the satisfaction of Government.

21. The foregoing remarks are meant to apply to Bengal mainly: they are, however, equally applicable to Behar. They apply, however, in a less degree to Orissa, to the Chota Nagpore province, and to Julpigoree and the Western Dooars, to which territories the Act (VIII of 1869) was not extended, and where rent suits are tried by the land revenue officers under Act X of 1859. In these districts the local Government has far better means of preventing agrarian trouble than in Bengal and Behar. Still its hands would be strengthened even in Orissa and Chota Nagpore by the passing of the proposed Bill. I would therefore extend the measure to all the territories under the Government of Bengal.

SETTLEMENT OF DISPUTES REGARDING RENT.

THE HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER said, at the meeting of the 10th April the Lieutenant-Governor prepared the Council for the measure which MR. DAMPIER had now the honor to lay before them in these terms:—

"The other Bill is to provide a more satisfactory and summary jurisdiction for the decision of suits and disputes regarding rent in cases where agrarian troubles or disturbances may be felt. I think all those who have practical experience with landed affairs and interests in the interior of the country will admit that when such troubles as those which occurred the year before last in parts of Bengal shall arise, it is necessary that the authorities who are responsible for the order and peace of their districts should have a more complete legal power than they have at command for bringing such disputes to a speedy and satisfactory termination. I hope that before long on both these matters we shall be able to submit measures for the consideration of the Council."

This measure was, in the fullest sense of the term, a Government measure. With the progress of events and the increase of knowledge, differences had arisen which from time to time threatened to disturb the peace and good order of large portions of districts. The means which under ordinary circumstances were found sufficient for good government, did not suffice under these special circumstances;—did not suffice when, to use the Lieutenant-Governor's words, whole classes of men were becoming angry with one another. The Government had found it necessary to come to the Council for extraordinary powers to deal with these cases. The Lieutenant-Governor personally had stated at length, in a minute which was in the hands of members, the circumstances which had led to his so coming to the Council, and the nature of the special powers which the Government considered would be best for the peace and good government of the country. Nothing would be gained by Mr. DAMPIER's adding to what the Lieutenant-Governor had written, and therefore he begged to move for permission to introduce a Bill to provide for inquiry into disputes regarding the rent payable by ryots in certain cases, and to prevent agrarian disputes.

The motion was agreed to.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER said, the measure which he had the honor to bring to the notice of the Council was not, he supposed, one which took any member by surprise. He might say that public opinion had for some time been occupied with the subject; and there was, he thought, a consensus of opinion that some special measure of this sort was necessary to put an end to what threatened to be a scandal to our Government. The subject had been much ventilated and discussed outside of the Council; and as from the very nature of the Bill, it was desirable that it should be passed as soon as possible, he had no hesitation in asking the President to suspend the rules for the conduct of business in order that he might get the Bill on one stage farther.

The PRESIDENT having declared the rules suspended—

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER, in moving that the Bill be read in Council, said he should lay before hon'ble members the general scheme of it shortly. The Bill provided that the Lieutenant-Governor might set in motion this extraordinary procedure whenever he considered it necessary for the maintenance of peace and for good government generally. When he considered this to be necessary, he would vest the Collector or other officer with the special powers of the Bill.

When a difficulty arose of the character which this Bill was intended to meet, it usually so happened that the dispute between the zemindars and ryots involved some general question which affected each individual ryot, such as in the Dacca instance, which the Lieutenant-Governor had given in his minute. The general question there was whether the rise in the value of produce since the last time that rents were adjusted was such as to make it fair and equitable that rents should be raised by four annas a beegha. Another instance of a general question which often arose was as to the length of the hath or cubit, or unit of measurement. The zemindars and ryots might be agreed that at a certain point of time the rent paid for certain kinds of land was eight annas a beegha. Unfortunately this agreement did not bring the matter so near to a solution as would seem at first sight. Hon'ble members were aware that every beegha consisted of a fixed number of luggees or poles squared, and every luggee of a certain number of cubits or haths. Unfortunately the cubit did not consist of a fixed number of inches or fingers, and a different hath was in vogue in different pergunnahs. In Pubna, where disputes were going on two years ago, the ryots of some estates claimed that their rents were fixed with reference to a beegha measured according to the cubit or hath of a certain traditional saint, who was noted for the extraordinary length of his arm. The zemindars denied this, and so the dispute went on. In former times there used to be in a corner of the Collectorate a bunch of sticks, sealed at each end, which represented the standard of measurement in different pergunnahs.

According to the ordinary procedure, there was no way of taking up such general questions and deciding them finally as general questions. The zemindar might single out a representative ryot, and take him through the court of first instance, and through all the mazes of appeal, and get the point decided by the highest court. No doubt, if the ryots were reasonable, they ought to accept that finding and agree to a settlement accordingly. Unfortunately, when the ryots "got angry" and were in that state of combination which it was one of the objects of the Bill to meet, ryot No. 2 would not accept the decision given in the highest court of appeal in the case of ryot No. 1; and he opposed the zemindar by vis inertiæ; and so the zemindar might have to carry on suits against his ryots one by one in detail, and through all the courts.

It would be seen that the remedy which the Bill proposed for this state of things was that when the Lieutenant-Governor was satisfied that such an unfortunate dispute existed, and had determined to bring the machinery of the Bill into operation, he should propound certain general questions for decision, and should require the revenue officers to make a local and personal inquiry, and to come to a general finding upon them. This finding, when formally arrived at and declared, would be binding upon those particular points on the courts in the disposal of cases. The finding on the general questions having been so arrived at, the Bill provided that they might be applied by one proceeding to the cases of any number of individual ryots. The zemindar might bring his suit of enhancement against any number of ryots jointly, or any number of ryots jointly might bring a suit for abatement against the zemindar. The circumstances of each individual would be carefully considered, but the one decision would bind all, defining particularly to what extent it applied to the case of each ryot.

The third point in the Bill was that so long as an estate was under the operation of this extraordinary measure, all suits for rent should be tried by the officers who exercised the special powers of the Bill, and by no other courts. Those who were familiar with the mofussil, would at once see how necessary it was that the hands of the special officers should be strengthened on the one hand; and on the other hand they would be personally on the spot making local inquiries, and this particular work would take precedence of all other work on their hands. Therefore, it was for the good of all parties that, so long as this state of things existed in any estate, the people should have to look to one set of officers only as judges in these rent matters.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL said he regretted the necessity which had compelled the Government to bring in this Bill. It was an exceptional measure, but exceptional circumstances required exceptional remedies. Hon'ble members of this Council were aware that for some years past the feeling between the zemindars and ryots in several districts in Bengal had been far from what was desirable and what ought to subsist between them, and in some cases this feeling had found expression in overt acts of disturbance. In 1873 troubles of a serious character broke out in Pubna, and he was afraid that the contagion would have spread to other districts if the common calamity which threatened us in 1874 did not for a moment prevent the spread of that feeling. The zemindars and ryots were then equally anxious for their own existence as it were, and angry feelings consequently gave place to the desire for mutual help and protection. But troubles had again broken out in some of the Eastern districts. His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, in the minute which had been circulated to members, had called attention to certain facts which established the necessity of a measure of this kind. Baboo KRISTODAS PAL had some opportunities of knowing how things were getting on between ryots and zemindars in several districts, and he must say that unless some measures were taken to promote peace and harmony between them, the tranquillity of the country might be endangered, and the Government called upon to take stronger measures than that now proposed. The present law was not sufficient to meet cases of organized combination among the tenantry. The civil court procedure was too dilatory, expensive, and harassing, and it was therefore necessary that there should be a summary procedure for the settlement of rent disputes. The present Bill contemplated a summary settlement; and if it were carried out with care, judgment, and tact, he believed the Government would succeed, as it intended to do, in throwing oil over troubled waters.

There were, however, some points connected with this Bill which involved, he might say, questions of principle, and to which only he would briefly advert. In the first place this Bill left everything to the discretion of the revenue officer. No principle was laid down on which he was to settle the question of rates of rent. Now, hon'ble members were aware that the whole rent question was a question of rates of rent. Until the rise in the price of produce, which dated, BABOO KRISTODAS PAL might say, from the Crimean War, there was little dispute practically between zemindars and ryots. There was not before that active incitement to enhancement of rent which was now in operation. Whatever increase was then made, it was generally amicably settled between zemindars and ryots; the law courts were seldom appealed to. But since the rise in the price of produce. there had been continually going on a struggle between the landlord and tenant as to the proportion which the rent should bear to the produce of the land. This struggle had been intensified, he might say, by the rent law. Act X of 1859, which was justly regarded as the ryots' charter, had unfortunately introduced an element of uncertainty and indefiniteness as to the proportion which the rent should bear to the produce of the land. Many conflicting decisions had been passed by the High Court upon the subject; and from the day the Act was passed to this day, the question of the rate of rent remained unsolved. If some simple rules could be laid down which would lead to the determination of a fair and equitable rate of rent, he thought the present rent difficulty would disappear. It was, he admitted, a very difficult and complicated question; but he might mention that several suggestions had been made by experienced persons on this subject. One was this, that the gross produce of the land should be divided between the zemindar and the ryot in a definite proportion; that was to say, three-fourths going to the ryot, and one-fourth to the zemindar as rent. That was one suggestion. If hon'ble members would inquire, they would find that in many districts the proportion of rent received by the zemindar was more than one-fourth of the gross produce, and in some districts it was less; but he believed it would be equitable and just, both to the zemindar and the ryot, if the proportion were laid down at three-fourths to the ryot and one-fourth to the zemindar.

The next suggestion was this, that the rate of rent should be fixed on the competitive rate prevailing in the village or pergunnah. The competitive rate meant the rate of rent at which the jotedars or farmers or other holders of land let the land to cultivating ryots. There was a competition for land by the cultivating ryots, and the rate they paid was called the competitive rate. Taking that as the rate of rent, the rate for an occupancy ryot might be fixed at such a rate as would secure him the benefit of the tenant right he enjoyed, and this could be done by allowing him a deduction at a certain percentage from the competitive rate so found and determined. This suggestion was based upon the principle followed in the Oude Rent Act. According to that Act the occupancy ryot was liable to pay the rate of rent minus $12\frac{1}{2}$ per cent., which a tenant-at-will paid.

The third suggestion was this, that the average of the price of the produce of the land for the last ten years might be taken with the cost or outgoings which the ryot incurred, and the proportion which the then existing rate of rent bore to the gross value of the produce, and similarly the average price of the produce at the present day with the outgoings, and the proportion the rate of rent bore to the value of the gross produce at the present day; the difference which might be found between the two rates should be made up by an abatement or enhancement of rent in like proportion. That was to some extent the principle laid down by Mr. Justice Trevor in his judgment in the great rent case.

There might be other suggestions which might meet the difficulty one way or another. But BABOO KRISTODAS PAL thought that some definite principle ought to be laid down, upon which the revenue officers should proceed under this Bill in settling disputes as to the rate of rent. He believed it was intended that the Board of Revenue should prescribe rules as to the manner in which the Collector should make inquiries and report their proposals for sanction; but he did not know whether it was intended that the Board should provide rules also for the guidance of the Collector in the determination of the rate of rent. If that was the object, he thought the more regular course would be to embody such rules in the Bill.

The hon'ble mover had pointed out the advantage of determining or settling disputes in a pergunnah or in portions of a district in one proceeding or decision. BABOO KRISTODAS PAL admitted that in cases of measurement such a proceeding would be perhaps desirable; but he doubted whether, in cases of enhancement of rent, such a proceeding would be always convenient; for different ryots might have different pleas, and the revenue officer would be bound to inquire into the different pleas so preferred, and it might greatly complicate matters if one proceeding were to govern the cases of all ryots.

Then the Bill as it was framed provided for no appeal either to the Commissioner or to the Board of Revenue, but left it to the Commissioner and the Board to exercise a general power of supervision over the proceedings of the Collector. BABOO KRISTODAS PAL would divide rent cases into two classes, viz. enhancement cases and arrear cases. In arrear cases, where the question was simply whether the ryot owed a certain amount as rent, he thought it would not lead to much hardship if the right of appeal were taken away, though there might be cases of a certain description in which even arrear cases might involve questions of right indirectly. But enhancement cases were of a different description; and as it was proposed that the rate of rent determined by the Collector should have currency for a period of ten years, he thought it was very important and necessary that an appeal should be allowed from the decision of the revenue officer to the Commissioner and Board of Revenue. Very important questions might be involved in enhancement cases, and much would depend upon the particular idiosyncrasy of the officer who would decide these cases. One officer might be friendly to the zemindar, another might be opposed to the ryots, and vice versâ; and thus most important interests of zemindars might be imperilled, or a whole body of ryots might be ruined, by the proceedings of the Collector. In such important cases, BABOO KRISTODAS PAL thought, an appeal should be allowed to the Commissioner and the Board.

The Bill, he thought, was a move in the right direction; and if it were properly revised and amended, he believed it would be acceptable to all classes interested in the land.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER said he had the honor of stating just now that this Bill was in the purest sense a Government measure, and he presented it to the Council, with the exception of a few verbal alterations, in the shape in which it was sent to this Council by the Executive Government. No doubt the Government expected that it would be altered in its details in Select Committee, which would certainly give great attention to such an important Bill as this. There were only two points he wished to notice in his hon'ble friend's speech. The hon'ble member had said it might be objectionable in some cases to join a number of ryots as defendants or plaintiffs, because the circumstances of some of them might be so very different from some of the others. Now, Mr. DAMPIER knew that this particular provision was taken from one of the North-Western Provinces' Revenue Acts. However, he quite saw the difficulty which the hon'ble member suggested. Still it seemed to Mr. DAMPIER that there should be some way of applying the general finding which had been arrived at by the Collector with the approval of the Commissioner and the Board of Revenue, and giving it the force of a decree, as it were, against any number of ryots or on behalf of any number of ryots against the zemindar by one single proceeding. He thought there should be a power to join in one proceeding all the cases arising in an estate, and to make the same order apply to all those cases, if there were no particular reason against it. It appeared to him that if this Bill should go to a Select Committee, some such modification as this might be made,—that suits might be brought against any number of defendants jointly or by any number of plaintiffs jointly, and that after making all due inquiry the deciding officer should make his order cover the case of as many of such plaintiffs or defendants as it could conveniently be made to cover, and should leave out others whose cases he thought ought to be considered with reference to their special circumstances.

With regard to the other point, viz. an appeal to the Commissioner and the Board, MR. DAMPIER had pointed out that in the scheme of the Bill the first thing was a general executive finding or declaration upon a general question. This finding being accepted as the datum, the next thing was to apply it to each particular ryot's case and circumstances by a suit. The words used in the Bill were that the Collector should come to the general finding by proceedings under the control of the Commissioner and the Board; but practically the course should be that the Collector would submit, for the consideration of the Commissioner and the Board, the conclusions to which he had arrived, and should declare his finding with their approval, so that that declaration would in fact be in accordance with the views of the higher revenue authorities, and therefore an appeal would be unnecessary to them on the points involved in that finding. As regards the application of the general finding to individual cases, MR. DAMPIER thought it would be necessary to provide an appeal. He did not think there should be a right of appeal to the Board; and whether the right of appeal should lie to the Commissioner with a power of revision reserved to the Board, would be, he thought, a very important matter for the Select Committee to consider.

The motion was agreed to, and the Bill referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon'ble Mr. Schalch, the Hon'ble the Acting Advocate-General, the Hon'ble Mr. Reynolds, the Hon'ble Baboo Kristodas Pal, and the Mover, with instructions to report in a month.

The Council was adjourned to a day of which notice would be given.

		Central Districts.
PRESIDENCY DIVN.	6	24-Pergunnahs, 26th† April 1875	·09	Weather warm and windy. No crops on the ground. A light shower fell at some places in the district within the week. Rain much needed for sowings and replenishing tanks. Cholera prevails in thanas Nyehatty, Baduria, Busseerhat, and Hurwah; it is abating elsewhere. Fever increasing at Booripore.
	7	Nuddea, 24th April 1875	·26	Some rain has fallen. The weather is unsettled, and rain may be hoped for. It is cooler where there has been rain. Nearly 1¼ inches of rain are reported to have fallen in Koosteah, and agricultural operations are said to be going on vigorously. In other parts of the district there has been little or no rain, and it is urgently required.
	8	Jessore, 24th " "	Nil	Days clear and dry; nights occasionally cloudy; wind mostly from the south. The reaping of the spring rice still continues. Rain is wanted alike for sowing and for the rice crops that have been sown.
	9	Moorshedabad, 24th April 1875.	·07	Weather hot and sultry; a slight rainfall. Rain wanted for next rice crops. Price of common rice rising fast. Cholera at Gowas of bad type. Small-pox prevalent in several parts. Outbreak of cholera not improbable on account of large influx of people into Berhampore, induced by rise in prices of rice and indiscriminate alms-giving of Moharanee Shurnomoyee.
RAJSHAHYE DIVN.	10	Dinagepore, 23rd April 1875.	2·78	Weather cloudy and cool. Prevailing wind south-east; occasional gales from west. Thunder and heavy rain on the night of the 22nd instant. Kawn millet, bhadoi or early rice, and jute showing above ground. Moong kalai pulse and karila vegetable looking well. Tobacco root ploughing well advanced. The rain was very welcome.
	11	Maldah, 24th April 1875	·30	Weather dry and hot in the early part of the week, with strong westerly winds; then cloudy and cooler with easterly wind. There was a storm with rain on Thursday night. Rain is wanted for the early spring rice. The accounts of the other crops are good.
	12	Rajshahye, 24th " "	·7	Weather stormy, but there has been very little rain during the week, insufficient to do any good to cultivation. Rain is much needed, but the teel oilseed and rice crops are still doing well, as also jute. There will apparently be an indifferent moong pulse crop this year throughout the district. Cholera continues to be reported from several quarters.
	13	Rungpore, 23rd " "	·61	Weather hot, with strong winds; a storm and rain on the night of the 22nd instant. State and prospects of crops good.
	14	Bogra, 24th " "	·67	Weather fair; a little fall of rain on the night of the 22nd instant. Early rice is begun to be sown to a little extent. Prospects good.
	15	Pubna, 24th " "	·41	Weather cloudy; south-easterly wind prevailing. A little rain has fallen. Harvesting of cheena millet nearly finished; the outturn has been as good as it was expected. Jally and boro rice crops have suffered a little from the drought. The rain which has fallen is insufficient, and more is wanted for the cultivation of the early and late rice crops. At Serajgunge the prospects of the crops have been injured by delay of rain, which, however, is now expected. The jute sowings are about 25 per cent larger than those of last year.

The mean barometer as likewise the dry and wet bulb thermometer means are derived from the twenty-four hourly observations made during the day.

The dew-point is computed with the Greenwich constants. The figures in column 10 represent the humidity of the air, the complete saturation of which being taken at unity. The receiver of the lower rain gauge is 1½ feet, and that of the anemometer 70 feet 10 inches above the level of the ground. The velocity of wind, as indicated by Robinson's anemometer, is registered from noon to noon.

MARINE NOTICE.

A second class spire wooden buoy with pole and basket, painted in red and white rings, has been laid E. by S. about 7 miles from the Kannaka buoy in 14 fathoms low water, and marked P. P. as the Point Palmiras Reef buoy. The buoy is in latitude north 20° 48′ 30″, longitude east 87° 14′ 10″.

The Kanna buoy is now a first class wooden spire buoy with bell and basket, instead of a second class buoy with basket only.

The H. buoy of the Dhamrah river has been moved 700 yards to the N.E. on account of an extension of the sand in its vicinity.

The best track across the Chandipal bar, Dhamra river, has been marked by two bar buoys, one red and one black, in lieu of the former single fairway buoy. The track is very narrow, with from 7 to 8 feet low water in it.

The C and D buoys lost in the cyclone have been relaid.

All buoys at the entrance to the Dhamrah have been overhauled and put in good order.

By order,

The following Extraordinary, issued by the Government of India in the Foreign Department, is republished for general information :—

No. 1125*P.—Notification.—Simla, the* 19*th April* 1875.—Political.—Proclamation.

TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

His Highness Mulhar Rao, Gaekwar, was suspended from the exercise of power, and the administration of the Baroda State was temporarily assumed by the British Government, in order that a public inquiry might be made into the truth of the imputation that His Highness had instigated an attempt to poison Colonel R. Phayre, C. B., the late Representative of the British Government at the Court of Baroda, and that every opportunity should be given to His Highness of freeing himself from the said imputation.

The proceedings of the Commission having been brought to a close, Her Majesty's Government have taken into consideration the question whether His Highness Mulhar Rao, Gaekwar, shall be restored to the exercise of sovereign power in the State of Baroda.

The Commissioners being divided in opinion, Her Majesty's Government have not based their decision on the inquiry or report of the Commission, nor have they assumed that the result of the inquiry has been to prove the truth of the imputations against His Highness.

Having regard, however, to all the circumstances relating to the affairs of Baroda from the accession of His Highness Mulhar Rao, Gaekwar, to the present time, his notorious misconduct, his gross misgovernment of the State, and his evident incapacity to carry into effect the necessary reforms; having also considered the opinion of the Government of India that it would be detrimental to the interests of the people of Baroda and inconsistent with the maintenance of the relations which ought to subsist between the British Government and the Baroda State that His Highness should be restored to power, Her Majesty's Government have decided that His Highness Mulhar Rao, Gaekwar, shall be deposed from the Sovereignty of Baroda, and that he and his issue shall be hereafter precluded from all rights, honors, and privileges thereto appertaining.

Accordingly His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor-General in Council hereby declares that His Highness Mulhar Rao, Gaekwar, is deposed from the Sovereignty of the Baroda State, and that he and his issue are precluded from all rights, honors, and privileges thereto appertaining.

Mulhar Rao will be permitted to select some place in British India, which may be approved by the Government of India, where he and his family shall reside with a suitable establishment and allowances to be provided from the revenues of the Baroda State.

HER MOST GRACIOUS MAJESTY THE QUEEN, in re-establishing a Native Administration in the Baroda State, being desirous to mark her sense of the loyal services of His Highness Khundee Rao, Gaekwar, in 1857, has been pleased to accede to the request of his widow, Her Highness Jumnabaee, that she may be allowed to adopt some member of the Gaekwar House whom the Government of India may select as the most suitable person upon whom to confer the Sovereignty of the Baroda State.

The necessary steps will accordingly be immediately taken to carry into effect HER MAJESTY'S commands. In the meantime, with the consent of His Highness the Maharaja of Indore, Sir Madava Rao, K. C. S. I., will at once proceed to Baroda, and conduct the administration of the State as Prime Minister, under instructions which he will receive from the Governor-General's Agent and Special Commissioner at Baroda.

In conferring the Sovereignty of the Baroda State, no alteration will be made in the treaty engagements which exist between the British Government and the Gaekwars of Baroda, and the new Gaekwar will enjoy all the privileges and advantages which were conveyed to the Gaekwar of Baroda in the Sunnud of Earl Canning, dated the 11th of March 1862.

The following orders, issued by the Government of India in the Foreign Department, are republished for general information:—

No. 1064*P.—Simla, the* 16*th April* 1875.—Notifications.—Political.—With reference to Notification No. 2820P., dated 21st December 1874, the recognition by the Government of India of Mr. Jules Bloch as Acting Consul for Belgium at Calcutta, during the absence of Mr. Renaud, has been confirmed by Her Majesty's Government.

No. 1069*P.*—In recognition of the long and meritorious service of First Grade Assistant Surgeon Baboo Ramsoonder Ghose, Deputy Superintendent of Vaccination, Metropolitan Circles, the Viceroy and Governor-General is pleased to confer upon him the title of "Rai Bahadoor" as a personal distinction.

No. 1071*P.*—The following order of Her Majesty in Council, published in the London Gazette of the 19th February 1875, is republished for general information:—

Die Auslieferung soll nicht stattfinden, wenn die von der Schweizerischen Regierung verfolgte Person im Vereinigten Königreich, oder die Seitens der Regierung des Vereinigten Königreipart of the Swiss Government, has already been tried and discharged or punished, or is still under trial, in one of the Swiss Cantons or in the United Kingdom respectively, for the crime for which his extradition is demanded.

If the person claimed on the part of the Government of the United Kingdom, or if the person claimed on the part of the Swiss Government, should be under examination, or have been condemned for any other crime in one of the Swiss Cantons or in the United Kingdom respectively, his extradition may be deferred until he shall have been set at liberty in due course of law.

In case such individual should be proceeded against or detained in the country in which he has taken refuge, on account of obligations contracted towards private individuals, his extradition shall, nevertheless, take place; the injured party retaining his right to prosecute his claims before the competent authority.

ARTICLE V.

The extradition shall not take place if, subsequently to the commission of the crime, or the institution of the penal prosecution, or the conviction thereon, exemption from prosecution or punishment has been acquired by lapse of time, according to the laws of the State applied to.

ARTICLE VI.

If the individual claimed by one of the two Contracting Parties in pursuance of the present Treaty should be also claimed by one or several other Powers, on account of other crimes committed upon their respective territories, his surrender shall be granted to that State whose demand is earliest in date; unless any other arrangement should be made between the Governments which have claimed him, either on account of the gravity of the crimes committed, or for any other reason.

ARTICLE VII.

A fugitive criminal shall not be surrendered if the offence in respect of which his surrender is demanded is one of a political character, or is connected with a crime of that nature, or if he prove that the requisition for his surrender has, in fact, been made with a view to try and punish him for an offence of a political character.

ARTICLE VIII.

A person surrendered can in no case be kept in prison, or be brought to trial in the State to which the surrender has been made, for any other crime, or on account of any other matters than those for which the extradition shall have taken place.

This stipulation does not apply to crimes committed after the extradition.

ches verfolgte Person in einem Kanton der Schweiz wegen derselben strafbaren Handlung, wegen deren die Auslieferung nachgesucht wird, in Untersuchung gewesen und ausser Verfolgung gesezt worden, oder sich noch in Untersuchung befindet, oder bereits bestraft worden ist.

Wenn die von der Schweizerischen Regierung verfolgte Person im Vereinigten Königreich, oder wenn die Seitens der Regierung des Vereinigten Königreiches verfolgte Person in einem Kanton der Schweiz wegen einer andern strafbaren Handlung in Untersuchung liegt oder bestraft worden ist, so kann die Auslieferung verschoben werden, bis diese Person in gehörigen Rechtsgang in Freiheit gesezt worden ist.

Wird ein solches Individuum wegen Verpflichtungen, die dasselbe mit Privatpersonen abgeschlossen hat, in jenem Lande, in welchem es Zuflucht genommen hat, gerichtlich verfolgt oder mit Personalarrest belegt, so soll dessen Auslieferung dennoch stattfinden, dabei aber der beschädigten Partei das Recht vorbehalten bleiben, ihre Aussprache vor der kompetenten Behörde geltend zu machen.

ARTIKEL V.

Die Auslieferung soll nicht stattfinden, wenn seit der begangenen strafbaren Handlung, oder der Einleitung der strafgerichtlichen Verfolgung, oder der erfolgten Verurtheilung nach den Gesezen des ersuchten Staates Verjährung der strafgerichtlichen Verfolgung oder der erhielten Strafe eingetreten ist.

ARTIKEL VI.

Wird ein Individuum von einer der beiden Vertragsparteien auf Grund des gegenwärtigen Verträges zur Auslieferung reklamirt, zugleich aber auch dessen Auslieferung von einer oder mehrern andern Mächten wegen andern auf deren Gebeiten begangenen Verbrechen verlangt, so ist dasjenige Gesuch im Vorgange zu bewilligen, welches das älteste im datum ist, es sei denn, das zwischen den Regierungen, die das betreffende Individuum reklamirt haben, entweder wegen der Wichtigkeit der begangenen Verbrechen oder aus andern Gründen ein anderes Abkommen getroffen würde.

ARTIKEL VII.

Ein flüchtiger Vebrecher soll nicht ausgeliefert werden, wenn die strafbare Handlung, wegen deren seine Auslieferung verlangt wird, einen politischen Charakter an sich trägt, oder mit einem derartigen Verbrechen zusammenhängt, oder wenn er nachweisen kann, dass der Antrag auf seine Auslieferung in Wirklichkeit mit der Absicht gestellt worden ist, ihn wegen eines Verbrechens, oder Vergehens politischer Natur zu verfolgen oder zu bestrafen.

ARTIKEL VIII.

Die ausgelieferte Person darf in dem Staate, an welchen die Auslieferung erfolgt ist, keinenfalls wegen einer andern strafbaren Handlung oder auf Grund anderer Thatsachen, als derjenigen, wegen deren die Auslieferung erfolgt ist, in Haft behalten oder zur Untersuchung gezogen werden.

Auf strafbare Handlungen, welche nach erfolgter Auslieferung verübt sind, findet diese Bestimmung keine Anwendung.

ARTICLE IX.

The requisition for extradition must always be made by the way of diplomacy, and to wit, in Switzerland by the British Minister to the President of the Confederation, and in the United Kingdom to the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs by the Consul-General of Switzerland, who for the purposes of this Treaty is hereby recognized by Her Majesty as a Diplomatic Representative of Switzerland.

The requisition for the extradition of an accused person must be accompanied by a warrant of arrest issued by the competent authority of the State requiring the extradition, and by such evidence as, according to the laws of the place where the accused is found, would justify his arrest if the crime had been committed there.

If the requisition relates to a person already convicted, it must be accompanied by the sentence of condemnation passed against the convicted person by the competent Court of the State that makes the requisition for extradition.

A requisition for extradition cannot be founded on sentences passed in contumaciam.

ARTICLE X.

A fugitive criminal may, however, be apprehended under a warrant issued by any police magistrate, justice of the peace, or other competent authority, in either country, on such information or complaint, together with such evidence or after such judicial proceedings as would, in the opinion of the officer issuing the warrant, justify its issue, if the crime had been committed in that part of the dominions of the two Contracting Parties in which he exercises jurisdiction. Provided, however, that in the United Kingdom the accused shall in such case be sent as speedily as possible before a police magistrate in London. Such requisition may be made by means of the post or by telegraph.

The accused shall, however, be discharged if, within such reasonable time as, with reference to the circumstances of the case, the police magistrate may fix, the requisition shall not have been made according to the stipulations contained in Article IX.

ARTICLE XI.

The extradition shall not take place before the expiration of fifteen days from the apprehension, and then only if the evidence be found sufficient, according to the laws of the State applied to, either to justify the committal of the prisoner for trial, in case the crime had been committed in the territory of the said State, or to prove that the prisoner is the identical person convicted by the Courts of the State which makes the requisition.

ARTIKEL IX.

Das Auslieferungsbegehren muss immer auf diplomatischem Wege gestellt werden und zwar in der Schweiz durch den Englischen Gesandten bei dem Bundespräsidenten und in Grossbritanmen durch den Schweizerischen General-Konsul in London, welcher von Ihrer Majestät für die Zweke dieses Vertrages als diplomatischer Repräsentant der Schweiz anerkannt wird, bei dem Staatssekretär für die auswärtigen Angelegenheiten.

Mit dem Gesuche auf Auslieferung eines Beschuldigten müssen ein Verhaftsbefehl welcher von der zuständigen Behörde des die Ausliefern Begehrenden Staates erlassen ist, und solche Beweise beigebracht werden, welche nach den Gesezen des Ortes, wo der Beschuldigte aufgefunden wird, dessen Verhaftung rechtfertigen würden, wenn die strafbare Handlung dort begangen wäre.'

Betrifft das Auslieferungsbegehren eine bereits verurtheilte Person, so muss das Strafurtheil beigebracht werden, welches von dem zuständigen Gericht des die Auslieferung begehrenden Staates gegen den Verurtheilten erlassen worden ist.

Auf Strafurtheile, welche in contumaciam erlassen worden sind, kann das Auslieferungsgesuch nicht gegründet werden.

ARTIKEL X.

Indessen kann ein flüchtiger Verbrecher in beiden Landern auch verhaftet werden auf Grund eines Verhaftsbefehles, der von einem Polizeimagistrat, Friedensrichter, oder von einer andern kompetenten Behörde auf eine solche Strafanzeige oder Klage und zugleich auf einen solchen Beweis oder nach einem solchen gerichtlichen Verfahren erlassen wird, dass nach der Ansicht des Beamten, welcher den Verhaftsbefehl erlässt, dessen Erlass gerechtfertigt wäre, wenn das Verbrechen in demjenigen Theile der Gebiete der Vertragsparteien begangen worden ware, in welchem der Beamte Gerichtsbarkeit ausübt. Es wird indessen bedungen, dass in dem Vereinigten Königreiche in einem solchen Falle der Beklagte so schnell wie möglich vor einen Polizeimagistrat in London gesendet werden soll. Solche Requistioinen mögen vermittels der Post oder durch den Telegraphen gemacht werden.

Der Angeklagte soll indess des Verhaftes entlassen werden, wenn inner einer billigen Frist, die von dem Polizeimagistrat anzusezen ist und bei deren Fixirung die Verumständungen des einzelnen Falles zu berüksichtigen sind, das Begehren nicht in Gemässheit der in Artikel IX enthaltenen Bestimmungen gestellt worden ist.

ARTIKEL XI.

Die Auslieferung erfolgt nicht vor Ablauf von fünfzehn Tagen seit der Ergreifung und nur dann, wenn die Beweise für genügend befunden worden sind, um nach den Gesezen des ersuchten Staates entweder die Verweisung des Ergriffenen zur Hauptuntersuchung zu rechtfertigen, falls die strafbare Handlung im Gebiet dieses Staates begangen wäre, oder darzuthun, dass der Ergriffene mit der von den Gerichten des ersuchenden States verurtheilten Person identisch ist.

ARTICLE XII.

In the examinations which they have to make in accordance with the foregoing stipulations, the authorities of the State applied to shall admit as entirely valid evidence the sworn depositions or statement of witnesses taken in the other State, or copies thereof, and likewise the warrants and sentences issued therein, provided such documents are signed or certified by a Judge, Magistrate, or Officer of such State, and are authenticated by the oath of some witness, or by being sealed with the official seal of a British Secretary of State, or of the Chancellor of the Swiss Confederation.

ARTIKEL XII.

Die Behörden des ersuchten Staates haben bei der Prüfung, welche ihnen nach den vorstehenden Bestimmungen obliegt, den beschworenen Depositionen und Zeugenaussagen, welche in dem andern Staate zu Protokoll genommen sind, desgleichen den Abschriften hievon und ebenso den im andern Staate erlassenen Haftbefehlen und Urtheilen volle Beweiskraft beizulegen, vorausgesezt, dass diese Schriftstüke durch einen Richter, eine obrigkeitliche Person oder einen andern Beamten dieses Staates unterzeichnet oder bescheinigt und durch enien beeidigten Zeugen oder durch Beidrüng des Amtssiegels enies Englischen Staatsministers oder des Schweizerischen Bundeskhanzlers beglaubigt sind.

ARTICLE XIII.

If sufficient evidence for the extradition be not produced within two months from the date of the apprehension of the fugitive, he shall be set at liberty.

ARTIKEL XIII.

Wenn die zur Auslieferung genugenden Beweise nicht binnen zwei Monaten von dem Tage der Ergreifung des Flüchtigen an beigebracht werden, so ist der Ergriffene auf freien Fuss zu sezen.

ARTICLE XIV.

All articles seized, which were in the possession of the person to be surrendered at the time of his apprehension, shall, if the competent authority of State applied to for the extradition has ordered the delivery thereof, be given up when the extradition takes place, and the said delivery shall extend not merely to the stolen articles, but to everything that may serve as a proof of the crime.

ARTIKEL XIV.

Alle in Beschlag genommenen Gegenstände, welche sich zur Zeit der Verhaftung der auszuliefernden Person in deren Besiz waren, sollen, wenn die zuständige Behörde des um die Auslieferung ersuchten Staates die Ausantwortung derselben angeordnet hat, bei Vollziehung der Auslieferung mit übergeben werden, und diese Ueberlieferung soll sich nicht blos auf die entfremdeten Gegenstände, sondern auch auf. Alles erstreken, was zum Beweis der strafbaren Handlung dienen kann.

ARTICLE XV.

The Contracting Parties renounce any claim for the reimbursement of the expenses incurred by them in the arrest and maintenance of the person to be surrendered, and his conveyance to the frontiers of the State from which he is required; they reciprocally agree to bear such expenses themselves.

ARTIKEL XV.

Die vertragenden Theile verzichten darauf, die Erstattung derjenign Kosten, welche ihnen aus der Festnahme und dem Unterhalt des Auszuliefernden und seinem Transport bis zur Grenze des requirirten Staates erwachsen, in Anspruch zu nehmen, willigen vielmehr gegenseitig darein, diese Kosten selbst zu tragen.

ARTICLE XVI.

The stipulations of the present Treaty shall be applicable to the Colonies and foreign Possessions of Her Britannic Majesty.

The requisition for the arrest and surrender of a fugitive criminal who has taken refuge in any of such Colonies or foreign Possessions shall be made through the Swiss Consul-General in London to the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, who shall proceed in conformity with the provisions of the present Treaty and the laws of the land.

Her Britannic Majesty shall, however, be at liberty to make special arrangements in the British Colonies and foreign Possessions for the surrender of such individuals as shall have committed in Switzerland any of the crimes hereinafore mentioned, who may take refuge within such Colonies and foreign Possessions, on the basis, as nearly as may be, of the provisions of the present Treaty.

Ihrer Grossbritannischen Majestät soll es jedoch freistehen, in den Britischen Kolonien und auswärtigen Besizungen über die Auslieferung solcher Individuum die in der Schweiz ein im Vertrag genanntes Verbrechen begangen haben, aber innerhalb dieser Kolonien und auswärtigen Besizungen Zuflucht gefunden haben, auf möglichst gleicher Grundlage mit den Bestimmungen des gegenwärtigen Vertrages besondere Anordnungen zu treffen.

And whereas a Protocol amending Article XVI of the aforesaid Treaty was signed by the Plenipotentiaries of Her Majesty and of the Swiss Confederation on the twenty-eighth day of November, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four, which Protocol is in the following terms:—

The Undersigned Plenipotentiaries of Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and the Federal Council of the Swiss Confederation, having met in Conference, have taken into their consideration the following subject:—

They have directed their attention to the fact that the second paragraph of the XVIth Article of the Treaty, which stipulates that the requisition for the arrest of a fugitive criminal who has taken refuge in any of the Colonies or foreign possessions of Her Britannic Majesty shall be made through the Swiss Consul-General in London to the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, was not in accordance with the law of England, and they have consequently resolved to declare that the second paragraph of that Article beginning:

"The requisition for the arrrest," and concluding with, "and the laws of the land," shall be null and void, and in lieu thereof the following words shall be substituted:

"The requisition for the surrender of a fugitive criminal who has taken refuge in any of such Colonies or foreign possessions shall be made to the Governor or to the Supreme Authority of such Colony or Possession through the Swiss Consul, or, in case there should be no Swiss Consul, through the Consular Agent of another State charged for the occasion with the Swiss interests in the Colony or possession in question.

Die unterzeichneten Bevollmächtigten Ihrer Majestät der Königin des Vereinigten Königreichs von Grossbritannien und Irland, und des Bundesrathes der Schweizerischen Eidgenossenschaft, haben in einer Conferenz folgenden Gegenstand in Erwägung gezogen:—

Sie haben ihre Aufmerksamkeit auf die Thatsache gerichtet, dass der zweite Absaz von Artikel XVI des Vertrages, welcher bestimmt, dass das Gesuch um Verhaftung eines flüchtigen Verbrechers, welcher sich nach einer der Colonien oder auswärtigen Besizungen Ihrer Grossbritannischen Majestät gewendet hat, durch den Schweizerischen General-Consul in London an den Staatss kretär für die auswärtigen Angelegenheiten gerichtet werden soll, mit den Gesezen Englands nicht in Einklang steht. Sie sind daher übereingekommen zu erklären, dass der zweite Absaz besagtet Artikels, also beginnend:

"Der Antrag auf Verhaftung," und schliessend, "der bestehenden Geseze zu verfahren hat," null und nichtig sein, und an Stelle desselben die nachfolgenden Worte eingeschaltet werden sollen:

"Der Antrag auf Auslieferung eines flüchtigen Verbrechers, welcher in einer dieser Colonien odar auswärtigen Besizungen Zuflucht gefunden hat, soll bei dem Gouverneur oder bei der höchsten Behörde der betreffenden Colonie oder Besizung durch den in derselben residirenden Schweizerischen Consul, oder in Ermangelung eines solchen, durch den Consularagenten eines andern Staates, welchem für diesen speciellen Fall die Wahrnehmung der Schweizerischen interessen in der fraglichen Colonie odes Besizung anvertaut wird, gestellt werden.

"The Governor or Supreme Authority abovementioned shall decide with regard to such requisitions as nearly as possible in accordance with the provisions of the present Treaty. He will, however, be at liberty either to consent to the extradition or report the case to his Government."

The other provisions of Article XVI remain in force as they have been agreed upon in the Treaty.

This Protocol shall be regarded and acted upon as forming part of the Treaty in question.

In witness whereof the Undersigned have signed this Protocol, and have hereunto affixed their seals.

Done in duplicate at Berne, the twenty-eighth day of November, in the year of Grace, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four.

The Plenipotentiary of Great Britain,

(L.S.) EDWIN CORBETT.

"Der Gouverneur oder die höchste Behörde, welche oben erwähnt sind, sollen bezüglich solcher Auslieferungsbegehren möglichst conform mit den Bestimmungen des vorliegenden Vertrages entscheiden. Es steht ihnen indess frei, die Auslieferung zu bewilligen oder den Fall ihrer Regierung zum Entscheid zu überweisen."

Die andern Punkte von Artikel XVI bleiben in der im Vertrag vereinbarten Form in Kraft.

Dieses Protokoll soll als integrirender Bestandtheil des Vertrages angesehen und beobachtet werden.

Zur Urkunde dessen haben die Unterfertigten dasselbe unterzeichnet und ihre Siegel beigesezt.

So geschehen in doppelter Ausfertigung in Bern, den achtundzwanzigsten Tag des Wintermonats im Jahre des Heils ein tausend acht hundert vier und siebeenzig.

Der Bevollmächtigte der Schweiz,

(L.S.) J. M. KNÜSEL.

And whereas the ratifications of the said Treaty and Protocol were exchanged at Berne on the thirty-first day of December last:

Now therefore, Her Majesty, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, and in virtue of the authority committed to Her by the said recited Act, doth order, and it is hereby ordered, that from and after the first day of March, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five, the said Act shall apply in the case of the said Treaty and Protocol with the Swiss Confederation.

DRAUGHT OF VESSELS ENTERING OR LEAVING PORT.

Vessels with a draught not exceeding 21½ feet can now enter and leave the Port without difficulty or delay during all seasons of the year.

During the fair season, from October to 15th May, vessels with a draught not exceeding 24 feet can now enter and leave the harbour.

Fixed moorings are placed for such vessels.

TIME OF TIDE FOR ENTERING PORT.

Sailing vessels should enter Port on the ebb-tide.

Steamers can enter either flood or ebb, and stand at once into Port.

Masters of Ships should not, under any circumstances, attempt to enter the harbour without a Pilot.

HARBOUR IMPROVEMENTS.

Among the extensive works executed, a break-water* has been built, running out from Manora Point in a south-by-east direction to a distance of 1,500 feet into 6 fathoms of water; this affords complete shelter to the Entrance Channel during the south-west monsoon; also a channel has been opened through the bar with a depth of 20 feet at low water spring-tides 500 feet in breadth; the channel is marked by buoys, and these on entering should be kept on the port side about 150 feet.

* A red-light is exhibited at the outer extremity of the break-water

Note.—A Mail Steamer arriving off the port at night and requiring a Pilot should fire two guns.

APPROACHING THE PORT.

COAST OF SIND.

Indus Banks.

The Coast of Sind below the parallel of 24° north latitude should be approached with great caution; too much attention cannot be paid to the lead, more especially in passing the banks of the Indus.*

* Banks of the Indus have extended about 10 miles to the southward since 1856.

No sailing vessel should come nearer this coast than 20 fathoms by night, or in rough weather, or under 12 fathoms by day in fine weather.

The tides during the springs are strong, the flood sets south-east and ebbs to the north-west.

From February to the end of the monsoon a strong south-easterly current is experienced, running at a rate of from 15 to 40 miles a day.

During the south-west monsoon, sailing vessels should make Ras Muari (Cape Monze), which is 18 miles west-half-north from Manora Light-house, and keep to windward of the port, if the weather is thick, or if the tide does not suit for entering the harbour. Allowance must also be made for a strong set to the south-east, which prevails more or less during the south-west monsoon.

Do not bring Manora Point to the southward-of-east, or go under 15 fathoms near Cape Monze.

Masters of ships should endeavour to make the port at day-light, and can with safety approach into 8 fathoms to about 2 miles distance from the light-house, keeping it, in any bearing, from north-east to north and heave to for a Pilot.

ANCHORAGE IN THE ROADS.

From June to the middle of September, ships should not on any account anchor, but stand off and on, keeping the light-house bearing from north-by-east, to north-east 1 to 2 miles distant, until boarded by a Pilot or directed by signal.

September to end of March.

Anchorage light-house north-by-east to north-north-east, distant 1 mile, 7 fathoms.

April and May.

Light-house north-north-east to north-east, distant half a mile, 8 fathoms.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT,—BENGAL.

DISTRICT ROAD FUND.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 138.

The 23rd April 1875.

UNDER Section 89 of Act X of 1871, the following annual accounts and reports of the District Road Committees of 24-Pergunnahs, Nuddea, and Jessore, of works done and in progress during the past cess year 1873-74, together with the review thereon by the Commissioner of the Presidency Division, are published for general information.

G. F. E. S. NEILL, Captain, M.S.C.
Offg. Asst. Secretary to the Government of Bengal in the P. W. D.

No. 446R, dated Alipore, the 17th November 1874.

From—F. B. PEACOCK, ESQ., Magistrate and Chairman, Road Cess Committee, 24-Pergunnahs,

To—The Commissioner of the Presidency Division.

I HAVE the honor to submit the annual report on the administration of the road fund accounts, as well as of the roads, bridges, &c., in the district of 24-Pergunnahs, for the road cess year ending on the 30th day of September 1874.

2. The Road Cess Act (X of 1871) was passed by the Bengal Legislative Council in the month of July 1871, and extended to this district in the month of October following. The gentlemen named in the margin were appointed to form the committee for carrying out the general purposes of the Act.

19. „ Taruck Nath Sircar.
20. „ Woomah Nath Roy Chowdhery.

3. There were no new members added to, or discharged from, the managing committee of the fund during the year under report. The members therefore were the same as reported last year. Dr. Caley has, however, left the district since the names of the Committee were gazetted.

4. There were five general meetings and five sub-committees held during the year. On the whole they were so attended that the number required for forming the quorum was complete in every instance except in one or two occasions. I regret, however, that I am constrained to say that, as a rule, the members of the Committee did not evince much interest in the work.

5. The fund consists of the revenue derived from the cess on land and houses, and of all sums levied or recovered as fines or penalties or otherwise leviable under the Act, and of all sums and of the proceeds of ferries and tolls assigned by Government thereto.

6. The gross amount derived from the above sources during the year under report was Rs. 1,59,644-7-8½. There was no unexpended balance of the year preceding the last in hand, as may be seen from the annexed accounts.

7. The total expenditure during the year under review on all heads amounted to Rs. 1,26,937-2-9, as shown below, viz.—

	Rs.	A.	P.
On new original works	23,878	2	8
On repairs of metalled roads	40,587	10	10
On ditto of unmetalled roads	16,663	14	10

Contingencies for both valuation and executive offices ...	1,894	2	3
Refunds of excess collections	961	5	8
Grand Total ...	1,26,937	2	9

The details of each of the above items are set forth in form No. 6, Part II of the annual accounts herewith submitted.

8. The total length of the metalled roads in the district is 165 miles, and that of the unmetalled roads 290 miles.

9. There are 32 ferries over the various rivers and khals, and 12 toll-bars on different roads in the district. The net amount realized from the former during the past year was Rs. 13,243-8-0, and that from the latter Rs. 10,961-2-3½, as set forth in the accompanying accounts.

10. I.—Original works.—I will now briefly notice the principal works executed during the past year in the order following :—

1. Nimtah road, one mile new metalling.
2. Chungfully and Ramnugger kutcha roads.
3. Kutcha road from Aununtopore to Bhangore.
4. Issoreepore kutcha road.
5. Two culverts on the Fultah Beerasee road.
6. Three culverts on Narainpore road.
7. One pipe drain for the Majeeparah road.

11. The metalling of the one mile of the Nimtah road was undertaken during the year under review. The entire length of this road is 4 miles; but of the metalling of the 2 miles, for which provision was made in the last year's budget, one only has been completed during the year,—the other mile could not be undertaken owing to the delay which occurred in acquiring the land. The circumstances which induced the committee to take this work up were the fact that a local resident, Baboo Modhoo Sooden Banurjee, offered to contribute Rs. 2,000 towards the metalling of this road, and also that it is an important feeder from the Belghoria station on the Eastern Bengal Railway to some large and populous villages in the neighbourhood. The remaining mile has been budgeted for in the present year's estimate, and will be completed as soon as possible. The work has been well done under the personal supervision of the Executive Engineer.

12. The committee next undertook the construction of four kutcha roads, as noted in the margin. The two first are situated in the Diamond Harbour, the third in the Sudder, and fourth in the Shatkhira sub-divisions. These roads were not included in the budget estimate of the last year, but were undertaken in the middle of the year, in order to find employment for persons of the day-labourer class, and those whose crops had in the previous year been almost a total failure. In determining to take these works in hand, the committee acted in the spirit of paragraph 6, clause (h) of Government Relief Circular No. 80, dated 17th November 1873, and funds were provided by the transfer of allotments to original works estimated for in the budget. The works were executed under the supervision of both the sub-divisional officers and Executive Engineer, and entirely without assistance from provincial or imperial funds. I may add that the first three roads have been completed, but the last road, Issureepore, has been only partially done, and has still about 6 miles to complete it. These works afforded great relief to the distressed people of the above quarters.

Chungfully, 5 miles.
Ramnugger, 3 miles.
Aununtopore to Bhangore, 6 miles.
Issoreepore, 12 miles.

13. The total expenditure therefore incurred on original works was Rs. 28,878-2-8.

14. II.—Repairs to metalled roads.—Under this head come the repairs, amounting to Rs. 40,587-10-10.

1.	Nowabgunge feeder road.	7.	Moneyrampore road.
2.	Fultah Ghât to Itchapore park-gate.	8.	Barripore road.
3.	Belghoria feeder road.	9.	Bistopore road.
4.	Bone Hooghly road.	10.	Takee road.
5.	Ghoseparah road.	11.	Sodepore road.
6.	Gungarampore road.	12.	Russapuglah road.

15. All these repairs were superintended by the Executive Engineer, and paid for out of the funds placed at his disposal.

16. III.—Repairs to unmetalled roads.—Of roads falling under this class, ten were repaired during the year under review, and a total length of 90 miles, including surface repairs, was put in order by the Executive Engineer at a total cost of Rs. 16,663-14-10, the whole of which was paid for during the year. The names of the ten roads above alluded to are noted in the margin.

1.	Takee road, kutcha portion.	6.	Backrahat and Roypore road.
2.	Badooria road.	7.	Aununtopore road.
3.	Taragonia road.	8.	Culpee road.
4.	Kholakhally dâk road.	9.	Nellua road.
5.	Neelgunge road.	10.	Narainpore road.

17. IV.—Repairs to bridges, &c.—There were altogether about 50 bridges and culverts repaired during the year under review in different parts of the district by the Executive Engineer at a total cost of Rs. 7,229-1-1, and the works were completed and paid for during the year.

18. V.—Miscellaneous works.—Under this head come the repairs of a platform for the Busseerhat sub-divisional ferry, as well as the repairs of village roads and other petty and patchworks, at a total cost of Rs. 13,125-14-6. These works were likewise all completed and paid for during the year under review.

19. The above works may be thus summarized :—

		Rs.	A.	P.
1.	Original works	23,878	2	8
2.	Repairs to 12 metalled roads	40,587	10	10
3.	Ditto to 10 unmetalled roads	16,663	14	10
4.	Ditto to about 50 bridges, &c.	7,229	1	1
5.	Miscellaneous works	13,125	14	6
	Total ...	1,01,484	11	11

20. I may here mention that though only the works mentioned in paragraph 12 were exclusively taken up with the view of affording relief to those who needed it, the Executive Engineer was requested in every instance to give employment to the working poor people in the neighbourhood, particularly in localities where any degree of distress was felt. I have every reason to believe that by this arrangement distress was greatly alleviated, and that much was done towards mitigating a calamity that would otherwise have been more severely felt.

21. The following sums were allotted to each sub-division for improvement of village tracks and water-courses. These works were entirely superintended at head-quarters by the Vice-Chairman, and in other parts of the district by the sub-divisional officer, and by members of the Branch Road Cess Committees in localities adjacent to their homes; funds being from time to time supplied to them by the sub-divisional officers, who periodically inspected work so executed :—

			Rs.
1.	For head-quarter	sub-division	1,500
2.	For Diamond Harbour	ditto	1,900
3.	For Barripore	ditto	1.500
4.	For Baraset	ditto	1,900
5.	For Busseerhat	ditto	1,800
6.	For Shatkhira	ditto	1,800
7.	For Barrackpore	ditto	1,000
8.	For Dum-Dum	ditto	600
		Total	12,000

22. In the month of September last a general meeting of the Road Cess Committee was held under orders of Government, before whom were laid statements under Sections 69 and 70.

23. The total amount of the cesses leviable under the District Road Cess Act, as estimated by the Collector under Section 69, together with other sources of income for the cess year 1874-75, and including the balance of the past year, is Rs. 1,75,806-4-11½, composed as follows :—

		Rs.	A.	P.
1.	Cess on lands	1,09,133	0	0
2.	Cess on house	7,000	0	0
3.	Road cess leviable otherwise than under the District Road Cess Act	390	0	0
4.	Road tolls	11.606	0	0
5.	Ferry tolls	14,945	0	0
6.	Sales of produce and stores	25	0	0
7.	Balance of last year	32,707	4	11

24. The works on which the committee propose to expend the above income during the ensuing year are the following.

25. Under the head of original works, the metalling of 2 miles of Takee road, and the construction of the Adhatta and Issoreepore unmetalled roads, and 1 bridge and 3 culverts, have been determined upon; while under the head of repairs, 31 metalled and 25 unmetalled roads, and about 29 bridges, &c., are to be put in order at an aggregate cost of Rs. 1,09,701-10-0.

26. The details are as follows :—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Takee road	9,000
Adhatta road	3,755
Issoreepore road	2,500
Bridges, &c.	2,991
Compensation	617
Total	18,863	2	0

	Rs.	A.	P.
Original works, as per margin ...	18,863	2	0
25 metalled roads	62,785	0	0
24 unmetalled roads	12,753	8	0
29 bridges and culverts, &c. ...	15,300	0	0

27. Under the head of miscellaneous works to be undertaken during the year 1874-75, Rs. 10,500 have been set apart for improvement of village roads, giving an average of Rs. 1,300 to each of the 8 sub-divisions of the district. Rs. 6,650-8-0 have also been assigned for any special works that may be necessary during the year to come, and Rs. 6,000 for relief works, should any such be unhappily required. There has also been set apart Rs. 10,000 for short collections and printing and other incidental charges, &c., Rs. 2,000 for surveying and preparing land plans of the district roads, and Rs. 18,564 for Public Works establishment, &c., to be retained under the Executive Engineer for local works

These various items bring up Rs. 53,714-8-0, to which has been added the sum of Rs. 11,299 for establishments in the collection and executive departments, including their contingencies.

28. It only remains for me to notice the manner in which the Secretary and Executive Engineer have respectively discharged their duties. Of the former I have little to add to what I have said on other occasions. Baboo Rakhal Doss Mookerjee is in every respect a most efficient officer; and he is entitled to much credit for the manner in which he completed the valuation work of the district, as well as for the manner in which he has discharged the duties of his office since the actual levy of the cess commenced. Baboo Radhica Persad Mookerjee, the Executive Engineer, has given me great satisfaction by the zealous and active way in which he has carried on the work of his department. A good deal has been done, and many roads that had not been touched for years, and had become through disrepair useless as means of communication, have been made fit for traffic. He has, considering his heavy office work, given a large amount of personal supervision, and it is to this mainly that I attribute the improvement in the district road, which has undoubtedly been effected during the past year.

The 17th November 1874.

F. B. PEACOCK,
Chairman, Road Cess Committee.

No. 468R, dated Alipore, the 14th December 1874.

From—F. B. PEACOCK, ESQ., Magistrate and Chairman, Road Cess Committee, 24-Pergunnahs,
To—The Commissioner of the Presidency Division.

WITH reference to your No. 34PR, dated the 7th instant, I have the honor to submit the following explanation of the discrepancies alluded to.

1. Rs. 4,434 and Rs. 10,819-2-0 (total Rs. 15,253-2-0) on account of security deposits, &c., and amount refunded by the Executive Engineer, &c., in the 2nd and 3rd quarterly returns of 1873-74, were struck off from both sides of the accounts, under instructions from the Controller of Public Works Accounts, as per copies of his letters, No. 10510, dated 19th August 1874, and No. 14612, dated 21st November 1874, herewith forwarded.

2. Rs. 961-5-8, on being actually paid out of the treasury, were shown in the annual accounts instead of Rs. 16,214-7-8, and of the difference, viz. Rs. 15.253-2-0, Rs. 10,819-2-0 were struck off as above, and the remainder, Rs. 4,434, transferred to deposits, under the instructions of the Controller above quoted.

3. The sum of Rs. 6,650 was expended in excess of last year's collections, and its details were duly given in the annual accounts of that year. It has been shown in the memorandum on the back of the 1st quarterly accounts of that year.

4. The discrepancy of Rs. 8,602-13-10 between Rs. 1,35,540-0-7, the total of the quarterly returns, and Rs. 1,26,937-2-9, the total of the annual accounts, referred to in paragraph 4, is accounted for as follows:—Rs. 1,35,540-0-7 — Rs. 15,253-2-0 struck off for the reason stated in paragraph 1, + Rs. 6,650-4-2, the amount of excess expenditure on account of the last year, = Rs. 1,26,937-2-9, shown in the annual accounts.

5. Similarly, Rs. 15,253-2-0. cited in the 1st paragraph, being deducted from the amount of total receipts, viz. Rs. 1,74,897-9-8, as shown in the quarterly accounts, will give the sum of Rs. 1,59,644-7-8½, as shown in the annual accounts.

6. The amount of Rs. 417 has been shown under the sub-head "Pension," as directed.

7. The annual accounts, together with the explanation called for, are herewith resubmitted.

Remarks made upon examination of the Statement of Receipts and Expenditure on account of the 24-Pergunnahs District Road Fund for the 3rd quarter of the cess year 1873-74, ending 30th June 1874.

REMARKS.—Rs. 5,000, amount refunded by the District Engineer on account of Issurepore Road during May 1874, has been credited and debited to "Refunds." The amount has therefore been struck off from both sides of the statements of receipts and expenditure.

Rs. 4,434, amount refunded to ferry and toll farmers during May 1874, has been debited by this office to "Deposit," and not to "Refunds," as done by the Vice-Chairman.

No. 10510, dated Fort William, the 19th August 1874.

Memo.—By F. R. BOYCE, ESQ., Controller of Public Works Accounts.

FORWARDED to the Chairman of the District Road Cess Committee, 24-Pergunnahs, for information.

No. 14612, dated Fort William, the 21st November 1874.

Memo. from—F. R. BOYCE, ESQ., Controller of Public Works Accounts, Bengal,
To—The Chairman of the District Road Committee, 24-Pergunnahs.

IN reply to his No. 441R of 12th instant, the undersigned has the honor to observe that the sum of Rs. 5,819-2-0, being a portion of Rs. 12,000 advanced to the Deputy Magistrate, Satkhira, and shown in the accounts as cash balance in hand of disbursers, should not have been credited to Refunds, but to the account of Advances to disbursers, when it was so recovered from the Relief Committee.

2. It is therefore requested the Chairman will be so good as to write back the amount in the quarterly accounts ending 30th September 1874, if the same has not been already done by him, submitting a revised account for the quarter.

No. 96, dated Kishnaghur, the 29th December 1874.

From—C. C. STEVENS, ESQ., Magistrate and Chairman of the Nuddea District Road Cess Committee,

To—The Commissioner of the Presidency Division

WITH reference to your No. 34PR, dated 30th September 1874, I have the honor to submit the following report of local improvements carried out in the Nuddea district during the cess year ending 30th September 1874.

2. Rs. 30,000 were at first allotted to this district for the improvement of the existing lines of communications, and the construction of new roads and bridges, and for establishments. To this was added a further grant of Rs. 20,000 to meet the requirements of famine. In addition to these sums were received Rs. 67,148, the cess collected under Act X of 1871, Rs. 18,024 collected from tolls and ferries. The total receipts of the year under notice amounted to Rs. 1 32,454.

3. Of this amount, Rs. 50,801 was expended on original works. The chief works are detailed below.

A timber bridge on masonry piers and abutments, having 3 bays of 24 feet each, was constructed on the Kishnaghur and Meherpore road. This work has been satisfactorily completed at a cost of Rs. 4,245.

4. A bridge has been constructed on the Kishnaghur and Kissengunge road, on masonry piers and abutments, having 3 bays of 24 feet span. This work has been completed at a total cost of Rs. 6,507.

5. A portion of the Kishnaghur and Kishengunge road has been metalled at a cost of Rs. 5,010. I regret to say that much injury was done to this by the inundations.

6. An embankment was constructed from the Judge's house to Sumboonuggur. Rs. 1,376 has been expended on this work; it is nearly completed. The cost of this embankment will probably be recovered.

7. In addition to the works above mentioned, certain sums of money have been spent on surveys and taking levels of the several roads and embankments.

8. Rs 27,202 have been expended for the construction of new roads and bridges, &c., in the Sudder sub-division during the last famine. Most of these works have been satisfactorily completed.

REPAIRS.

9. Repairs to metalling of Kishnaghur and Baggoolah road—Rs 8,994 have been spent on this road The work was completed before the 30th September 1874. This is the most important feeder road in the district.

10. Repairs to metalling of Choygdah and Bongong road—This road has been completed at a total cost of Rs. 7,439.

11. Repairs to metalling of Kissengunge and Kotechandpore road.—This is an important line of communication between the districts of Jessore and Nuddea The traffic is always heavy, and the sum of Rs. 4,692, which has been expended on the road, is hardly sufficient.

12. Repairs to metalling of Ranaghat and Santipore road.—Rs. 2,822 have been spent in the repairs of this road.

13. Repairs to the metalling of the Kishnaghur and Santipore road.—This work has been completed at a total cost of Rs. 4,116.

14. Besides the works specified above, petty repairs have been executed on the lines of cutcha roads, but these do not appear to call for mention in detail.

15. Rs. 13,800 have been expended for the construction and repairs of village roads. Of this amount Rs. 2,775 have been spent in Kooshtea, Rs. 2,475 in Meherpore, Rs. 1,875 in Chooadangah, Rs. 2,400 in Ranaghat, Rs 2,475 in Bongong, and Rs. 1,837 in the Sudder sub-division.

16. As regards works done on account of famine, detailed report and accounts were forwarded to Colonel Trevor, Additional Chief Engineer. The statement which accompanies, includes works of all kinds undertaken in the district, both those connected with relief and those connected with the regular road works. I have already reported in my No. 9Ct—RC, dated 2nd December 1874, that a sum of Rs. 3,,805 has been overdrawn from the treasury and spent chiefly in famine works.

17. The remainder of the expenditure was upon establishment for collection of revenue, committee's office and work establishment, arboriculture, dâk bungalow establishment, miscellaneous contingent expenses, and repairs to the Kishnaghur and Boggoolah dâk bungalows. These are of minor importance, and deserve no special mention.

18. During the year under review three district road cess committees were held, at all of which a quorum was obtained There are five branch road cess committees in the district. The village road money was entirely distributed by these local committees.

19. The two dâk bungalows are now well and comfortably furnished, and in thoroughly good order.

20. A few observations occur to me on general topics connected with the roads, and these I will now proceed to give.

21. In my opinion, the working of the sub-divisional committees has been satisfactory upon the whole, though I believe individual instances of selfishness have occurred. I should like to see the whole control of the purely local roads made over to these committees, leaving in the hands of the district committee merely those lines of road which affect more than one sub-division, or which communicate with other districts. I also think that a sub-committee should be established in the Sudder sub-division as in the others. The district committee is not a suitable body for the discussion of small details, and moreover it is not possible to represent adequately on the district committee the different parts of the sub-division.

22. The district committee is too unwieldy a body to do anything except general work, and I should greatly prefer that its duties should be restricted to passing the estimates required by law, appointing the establishments, fixing the rate of cess, and generally controlling the work of the sub-committees.

23. This year the district committee was exceedingly unwilling to renew the cess at the maximum rate, and this measure was carried only by my casting vote. The roads of this district are so extensive and costly, that I think it extremely unlikely that even with the maximum rate the committee will ever be able to keep them up in good order without assistance. The District Committee is of opinion that as a considerable part of the expenditure incurred is for the benefit of Jessore, some assistance might fairly be given by the committee of that district.

24. The expenditure of a considerable sum on village roads has been certainly a popular and useful measure. It has probably done more than anything else to reconcile the people to the imposition of the road cess. A large proportion of the grants for village roads have been supplemented by private local subscriptions.

25. The district committee has felt considerable disappointment at not being allowed, in accordance with the law, to make its own arrangements for establishment. The committee thinks (and I entirely agree) that it would be far better that the whole control of the establishment should rest in the Chairman. Professional inspection and scientific aid of a high order may be deemed requisite, and the committee has no objection to this; but the entire control of the execution ought to lie with those who collect, or who pay the money.

26. The budget of the committee has been rendered nugatory by the determination of Government to maintain for the present the existing system. The committee has no idea even what charge Government will make for the establishment, or on what principle this charge will be made. I can only express the hope that as soon as the necessary arrangements can be made, Government will allow the committee the liberty of choice, which appears to have been originally contemplated when the Road Cess Act was framed.

27. I am disposed to think that it would be more convenient if the road cess year were changed so as to correspond with the official year. As matters now stand, the greater part of the expenditure should be incurred in the first-half of the year, while the greater part of the income will not be realized till the second-half. It will not be easy to maintain large balances at the credit of the fund at the end of the year, because undue weight will probably be given by the committee to the existence of such balances, and the income unduly reduced accordingly.

28. Of the officers employed, I beg leave specially to bring to notice Supervisor Baboo Dwarkanath Sirkar. He is extremely active and systematic, and has particularly distinguished himself in the discharge of his duties connected with famine. The District Committee proposes to appoint him as Engineer as soon as Government may permit the arrangement.

29. This report would not be complete without a mention of the inundations of the year. They have severely damaged several of our roads, though happily no great injury has been done to the country generally. The expense of repairs will of course fall on the fund of 1874-75.

C. C. STEVENS, Magistrate and Chairman

No. 334R, dated Jessore, the 4th December 1874.

From—A. SMITH, ESQ., Magistrate of Jessore,
To—The Commissioner of the Presidency Division.

I HAVE the honor to submit herewith my local improvement report and the annual road fund accounts* for the year 1873-74.

* Statements, Parts I and II.

2. The works intended for execution during the year were considered and passed by the District Committee at a meeting held in August 1873. All important local works have been carried out by the District Engineer, Mr. Paterson, and the minor village roads and works by the branch committees, under the special superintendence of the members.

3. The District Committee met once in the middle and twice towards the end of the year, the latter meeting being principally to consider and pass the estimates of the current year (1874-75) The advice of the members has been valuable; but as many of them live in the interior, at a great distance from the district head-quarters, difficulty has been experienced in forming the quorum necessary for the transaction of business under Section 58 of the Road Cess Act, especially at the chief meeting of the year in the month of August, when indigo manufacture requires the constant attention of the planters. To remove this inconvenience, I recommended, in my letter No. 272R, dated 6th October 1874, several additional gentlemen for appointment as members of the district committee, and my recommendation has since been sanctioned under the orders of Government, No. 1611, dated 7th November 1874, communicated with your No. 33MR of the 21st idem.

4. As regards the branch committee of Khoolnah, the Deputy Magistrate having experienced similar difficulty, has also nominated certain gentlemen whom I will recommend for appointment on the branch committee.

5. All the branch committees have been of very great use, and have rendered great assistance; giving valuable opinions as to the local wants to be undertaken, and still more valuable assistance in supervising the execution of the less important works.

6. The undertakings of the year may be divided into two classes, viz. the more important road works executed by the Public Works Department, and the minor works and surface repairs executed by the respective branch committees. The following is a brief description of the works carried out in each sub-division during the year, and the expenditure incurred on them.

JESSORE SUB-DIVISION.

CLASS 1.—Works carried out by Public Works Department.

7. Rajuhaut and Kessubpore Road.—The renewal of this road was commenced in the month of September 1873, and is now completed for 14 miles; the remaining 3 miles will be undertaken early in the ensuing cold weather, and will be completed by the middle of July 1874. During 1873-74 the number of work-people employed on this road averaged from 600 to 700, and the quantity of work done was as follows:—

Earthwork	5,735,000 c. ft.
Turfing	918,000 s. ft.

The total expenditure up to the 30th September was Rs. 19,995, of which Rs. 18,084 were expended during the current year. The total amount of the estimate is Rs 27,768.

The road was not affected by the recent floods, as it is not subject to the Gangetic inundation. The road, however, passes over low bheel country, and it was necessary to raise it several feet. I have seen the road recently, and the work has been well executed.

8. Chooramankatee and Chougu'cha Road.—The renewal of this road was commenced in May 1873, and is now completed throughout its whole length of 10 miles. The turfing and surface dressing are finished and the road was opened for traffic several months ago. The road will require slight surface repairs, which will be completed immediately. It will be necessary, however to construct five soondry-wood bridges at a cost of Rs. 2,500, as the existing culverts are in a very dilapidated condition, besides being of very insufficient waterway. The total quantity of work executed during the cess year 1873-74 is—

Earthwork	2,000,000 c. ft.
Turfing	553,000 s. ft.

The expenditure up to the 30th September 1874 was Rs. 17,254, of which Rs. 6,959 were expended during the year. The amount of the estimate is Rs. 21,281; so that a saving of nearly Rs. 3,500 may be anticipated.

This road was not affected by the recent flood. This work I have also seen, and it has been well executed.

9. Singhea and Bussuntia Road.—This road was commenced early in December 1873, and has been completed throughout its whole length of 2 miles. It has been opened for traffic for the last six or seven months. The original road was under water during the heavy inundation of 1871-72, but being now well raised, it was considerably above the recent floods. The total quantity of work executed during the cess year 1873-74 was—

Earthwork	..	..	..	..	558,000 c. ft.
Turfing	..	..	..	..	110,000 s. ft.

The total expenditure up to date during the year is Rs. 1,882.

The amount of the estimate is Rs. 2,155; so that, allowing some Rs. 50 for petty surface repairs, a saving of Rs. 225 may be anticipated.

9a. Portion of Jessore and Jenadah Road situated between Kalligunge and Barrobazar.—A portion of this road, nearly 2½ miles in length, was several feet under the floods of 1871-72, and was accordingly raised and renewed during the last two seasons. New metalling was laid on the road for a length of nearly ¾ miles, and the old metalling was picked up and thoroughly reconsolidated. The work is completed, and the road has been opened for traffic for the last three or four weeks. A portion of the old metalling was under water during the recent inundation, but the new portion was raised well above flood level. The total quantity of work executed during the cess year of 1873-74 was as follows:—

Earthwork	..	..	..	..	365,000 c. ft.
Turfing	..	..	..	..	126,000 s. ft.
New metalling	..	..	..	..	20,000 c. ft.
Reconsolidating old metalling			..	..	22,000 c. ft.

The total expenditure up to date is Rs. 3,648, of which Rs. 1,875 were spent during the present year. The estimated cost is Rs. 5,119, and the anticipated saving will be Rs. 250.

10. Renewing the metalling of the Jessore and Singhea Road.—The metalling on this road was much worn out, so that it was necessary, during the cess year 1873-74, to renew it to a depth of 3 inches throughout. The work was commenced in November 1873; 7¾ miles have been renewed, and the remaining portion, from the 10th mile-post to the junction of the Singhea and Bussuntea Road (1 mile), will be completed next season. The following is the progress during the present year:—

Khoa manufactured and consolidated	..	..	79,800 c. ft.

The expenditure up to date is Rs. 6,988, of which the total amount was expended during the current year. The amount of the estimate is Rs. 10,618.

11. Renewing the metalling of the road outside Jessore Municipality.—It was found necessary, during the cess year of 1873-74, to renew the metalling to a depth of 3 inches along the Khoyrtolla road for a length of 8,000 feet, and along the Moorally road for a length of 8,000 feet, or a total length of 3 miles nearly. The remaining portions of these roads will be remetalled next season. The following is the quantity of work executed during the present year:—

Khoa manufactured, broken, and consolidated	..	48,000 c. ft.

The expenditure up to date is Rs. 5,626, of which the whole was incurred during the present year. The amount of the estimate is Rs. 5,961.

12. Village Roads in Sudder Sub-Division.—A sum of Rs. 3,000 was sanctioned for village roads, and Rs. 2,774-10-0 was expended therefrom in constructing a number of minor roads and bridges throughout the sub-division.

13. Khoolna Sub Division.—No works of any magnitude were undertaken during the year in the sub-division, the only expenditure being on account of village roads. A sum of Rs. 3,000 was sanctioned for this purpose, and the money was expended by the branch committee of Khoolna in constructing a number of minor roads and bridges. The roads on which the expenditure was incurred are of a local nature, so that it is not thought necessary to submit a detailed report on each. The distribution of the charges was as follows:—

		Rs.
Establishment	...	88
Masonry in culverts	...	276
Metalling roads	...	615
Earthwork for roads	...	1,861
Temperary wooden bridge	..	70
Cutting jungle and planting trees	..	87
Total	...	3,000

Only Rs. 1,813-6-7 was, however, paid during the year.

14. Bagirhaut Sub-Division.—No works of magnitude were undertaken in this sub-division during the year, the only expenditure being on account of village roads, for which a sum of Rs. 3,000 was sanctioned by the district committee. The work was undertaken by the branch committee of Bagirhaut.

The distribution of expenditure is as follows:—

		Rs.
Repairs to metalled roads	... ...	200
Earthwork for village roads	... ...	2,517
	Total expenditure ...	2,717

15. Nurrail Sub-Division.—No works of magnitude were undertaken in the sub-division, the only expenditure being on account of village roads, for which a grant of Rs. 3,000 was sanctioned by the district committee, and the works were undertaken by the branch committee of Nurrail. In allotting the money to the different village roads, the branch committee expended it as much as possible on lines which will ultimately become main roads, such as the Gorahkhallee and Senghea road, the Lockepassa and Nurrail road, and the Nurrail and Kaliab road. Although these roads are submerged during heavy inundation, they are a great boon to the people of the surrounding villages, and are passable for ordinary traffic throughout the greater part of the year. By expending yearly small sums on these roads, they will in time become well raised, and will form main thoroughfares connecting the principal villages of the sub-division. The total expenditure incurred for village roads was Rs. 2,881-4-0. The works were carried out through village headmen, under the immediate superintendence of the Sub-Deputy Collector and the general supervision of the branch committee.

MAGOORAH SUB-DIVISION.

16. The Benodpore and Singhea Road.—The works on this road are carried out by Mr. Oatts, Manager of the Nohatta Factory, and a grant of Rs. 1,000 was sanctioned for the purpose during the year. The road is well raised, and is passable for ordinary traffic, except in heavy inundations. There are palm-tree bridges throughout the whole length of the road.

17. Repairs to the Magoora and Benodepore Road.—A sum of Rs. 376-8-0 was sanctioned for the surface repairs of this road during the present year, and the money was made over to the branch committee of Magoora, which executed the work. A sum of Rs. 25 was also expended for this work by the Public Works Department. This road was under flood level during the recent heavy inundation, so that it is proposed, during 1874-75, to raise and widen the embankment, and place soondry-wood bridges where required.

18. Village Roads.—A grant of Rs. 3,000 was sanctioned for village roads in the sub-division, and the works were undertaken and completed by the branch committee of Magoora. The roads which were constructed are of general utility, and will ultimately form main thoroughfares connecting the principal villages in the sub-division. The works were chiefly carried out by members of the branch committee, and appear to have been well and cheaply executed.

JENIDAH SUB-DIVISION.

19. Portion of Jenidah and Chowadunga Road situated in the Jessore District.—This portion of the road (12 miles in length) suffered severely during the heavy inundation of 1871-72, but was thoroughly repaired, and substantial soondry-wood bridges were constructed where required. The metalling was also much worn out in several places, especially on the 12th, 13th, 16th, 21st, 22nd, and 23rd miles, and has since been repaired, or is still in progress. At the Verandahtolah and Bydanga khalls temporary bridges and metalled approaches were constructed, and the whole length of the road was passable for traffic until the 7th September 1874, when the road suffered severely from the heavy inundation, and it was found necessary to cut the approaches to all the soondry-wood bridges with the view to reducing the scour under them. One of the soondry-wood bridges was washed away, but the others are sound and uninjured by the flood. The road can be again rendered passable for traffic at a comparatively small outlay. The progress on the work during the cess year of 1873-74 was—

Picking up and consolidation of metal	... ...	104,998	c. ft.
Breaking and consolidating metal	... ...	22,312	,,
Earthwork	... ...	679,000	,,
Palm-tree bridges ...	... .	108	,,
Soondry-wood bridge	... ...	122	,,

The total expenditure up to date is Rs. 12,935, of which Rs. 8,404 were expended during the present year. The amount of the estimate is Rs. 14,474.

20. Jenidah and Magoora road.—This road is unmetalled, and is 18 miles in length. It suffered severely during the inundation of 1871-72, but was thoroughly renewed, and substantial soondry-wood bridges were constructed where required. The road remained passable for traffic up to the inundation of the 7th September 1874, which seriously injured the embankments, and washed away 2 of the 13 soondry-wood bridges recently constructed. The road was breached in several places, and was under flood level on portions of the 5th, 7th, 8th, 10th, and 14th miles. The large embankment crossing the valley of the Dhobaghatta, and the bunds constructed to protect it, were breached in several places. The road can, the Executive Engineer says, stand with safety an inundation 2 feet below the recent inundation, which was several inches above that of 1871-72. The Dhobaghatta embankment can, he thinks, withstand an inundation 1' 3" less than that of September 1874. The road can be made passable at a trifling outlay; but to render it capable of withstanding the highest inundation, will necessitate an estimated expenditure of upwards of Rs. 13,000. These excessive floods, which have recently passed through this sub-division, appear to me to result from the silting up of the present bed of the Ganges by the deposit brought down by the Brahmapootra, and will more probably increase than decrease till the river opens out a new channel to the west of the present one.

The progress of work done during the cess year of 1873 74 was—

Earthwork	...	...	...	1,094,000 c. ft
Turfing	...	...	..	221,000 s.
Bridges	...	...	...	264

PERMANENT BRIDGES REPAIRED.

13. Bridges permanently repaired.—The total expenditure up to date is Rs. 28,631, of which Rs. 13,723 were expended during the year.

21. Janidah and Kalligunge Road.—This road was under the heavy inundation of 1871-72 throughout the greater part of its length. Plans and estimates were submitted for raising the embankment above flood level, but nothing was done during the year 1873-74 except to construct two wooden bridges and to execute the necessary repairs to the surface of the road. This road was again under water during the recent inundation in September 1874.

The following is the progress of work during 1873-74:—

Dressing surface ..	...	...	535 chains.
Constructing wooden bridges...		...	70 c. ft.

The total expenditure up to date is Rs. 1,842, of which Rs. 907 were expended during the present year. The estimated amount is Rs. 1,827.

22. Portion of Kalligunge and Kishengunge road situated in the Jessore district.—This portion of the road is metalled throughout, and is 10 miles in length. It was above the flood of September 1874

The metalling was very much worn out, and is being renewed on the 1st to 7th and 8th miles, and on the 2 miles situated beyond Kotchandpore.

The following is the progress of the work during the cess year 1873-74:—

Picking up and reconsolidating metal	...	21,120.
Ballast broken, carted, and consolidated	...	69,300.

The expenditure up to date and during the year is Rs. 2,438, and the estimated amount is Rs. 4,886.

23. Kalligunge and Narainpore Road.—The earthwork has only been completed for half the length of this road, and there are no bridges or culverts. It is proposed to raise this road during the next cess year, the work being carried out by the Branch Committee of Jenidah.

24. Petty surface repairs to kutcha roads in the sub-division.—A sum of Rs. 930 was sanctioned for the surface repairs of the kutcha roads in the sub-division, and the work was executed by the branch committee.

25. Village Roads.—A sum of Rs. 3,000 was sanctioned for the construction and repairs of village roads, and the work was undertaken by the branch committee. The works were carried out chiefly by the members, and were completed in a satisfactory manner.

26. Considering the money raised, the cess has created wonderfully little dissatisfaction. The amount taken from any individual rate-payer is very trifling. An abwab at one pice per rupee of rent is to a ryot a very small tax compared with what he occasionally pays to his zemindar. Then again, all classes know for what purpose the money is taken, and they see it spent for their benefit before their eyes, and even in their own villages. The liberal allotments made for village roads have done more to popularize the cess than anything else would have done. The scanty rains of 1873-74 left the tanks not very well supplied with water, and applications were not unfrequently made for assistance from the fund for excavating them. If small aids would be of use for such a purpose, I would have advised the legalization of such expenditure; but the sum which will put miles of village tracks in passable order, will be scarcely an appreciable assistance to the digging of a tank. I mention the point, however, as one indicating in a small way popular feeling as to a direction in which the tax might be utilized.

27. The improvements in communication, which during the last two years have been carried out, have been a great boon to the people; and when the Act has been in operation a year or two more, they will see and appreciate still further the benefits that result from it.

A. SMITH,
Chairman.

No. 22R, dated Camp Nurrail, the 14th January 1875.

From—A. SMITH, Esq., Magistrate and Chairman, District Road Committee, Jessore,
To—The Commissioner of the Presidency Division.

WITH reference to your No. 47PR of the 30th December, the estimated available funds for 1874-75 are Rs. 1,26,000.

2. The allotment of funds made for the period is Rs. 30,047 to metalling and remetalling, Rs. 32,055 to the repairs and maintenance of unmetalled roads bridged and raised above flood level, Rs. 19,000 to fair-weather roads not bridged or raised above flood level, Rs. 22,000 to village roads, Rs. 3,000 for improvement of khals or water communications, Rs. 2,000 to the roads at the head-quarters of the five sub-divisions, Rs. 400 being given to each; Rs. 2,000 to tools and plants, and the remaining Rs. 16,000 to establishment.

3. In the budget estimate for the year, which was duly submitted to you, you will find full details of the works proposed under each head. I will therefore note only those on which considerable outlay is contemplated. It is intended to metal 2 miles of the important road joining the Sudder Station with the important sub-division of Jenidah at a cost of Rs. 3,500 per mile, and to add to this from year to year till the whole road has been metalled. This will take Rs. 7,000. Repairs to the metal on the railway feeder running from Kalligunge through the large mart of Kotechandpore to the railway at Kissengunge will take Rs. 4,886. It was intended to spend Rs. 2,000 in metalling 2 miles of the Jenidah and Magoorah road, but owing to difficulties resulting from the heavy inundation of last year, the works will probably be postponed for further consideration.

4. A sum of Rs. 6,683 is required for the completion of the important road from Rajahat to Keshubpore, and Rs. 2,767 have been allotted for the provision of bridges on the Chowgatcha and Chooramunkatty road; Rs. 5,223 have been allotted for erecting the Jessore and Taragunge road by part of the road to the sub-division of Nurrail; Rs. 8,000 have been voted for the construction of the road from Magoorah to Benodpore, being a continuation down towards Nowhatta and Nurrail of the road from Chowadanga through Jenidah to Magoorah; Rs. 4,000 have been allotted for a road from Narrail to Singhea, which will be a part of the continuation of the line from Benodpore to Chowadanga. Benodpore and Singhea being already connected, a similar sum has been provided for a road from Nurrail to the important village of Luckhipassa, on the Bankana; a similar sum has been voted for the important road connecting the Sudder Station of Jessore with the large bazar of Kajoorah, on the Chittra; Rs. 3,500 have been given for the road running from Kalleegunge, an important mart above Khojoorah, on the Chitra, vid Sutee Gopalpore to Naranpore, on the Chowadanga road. I have seen this road recently, and I am inclined to reduce the allotment and to expend the balance on the continuation of the Kalleegunge road past Gopalpore to Kharagoda, on the Nuddea border, and in giving a new platform to a bridge that has given way thereon.

5. The above are the chief works proposed for execution during the year. It will not be necessary that I should here enter upon a detail of minor, though by no means unimportant, works contemplated.

6. As to the way in which the establishment under me has worked, Mr. Paterson is energetic, and does well the works entrusted to him. I should, however, prefer that the committee had some establishment of its own, by which at least all minor works could be executed under the supervision of the branch committees.

No. 2PR, dated Calcutta, the 2nd February 1875.

From—LORD H. ULICK BROWNE, Commissioner of the Presidency Division,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department.

I HAVE the honor to submit the accounts of receipts and expenditure of the district road funds in this division for the year ending 30th September 1874, together with the report of works done and in progress during the year furnished by the several road cess committees.*

* 24-Pergunnahs, No. 446R, dated November 17th 1874.
Nuddea, No. 96, dated December 29th 1874.
Jessore, No. 334R, dated December 4th 1874.

2. These reports were received in this office on November 21st from the 24-Pergunnahs, on January 5th from Nuddea, and on December 7th from Jessore. References to the district officers for explanations of discrepancies, &c., and for information not supplied, or supplied in an imperfect form, have since been found necessary. Some time has thus been lost, and yet I regret to say some particulars called for from the Chairman of the Nuddea committee have not yet come to hand, and I have to submit the report for that district incomplete on one point, namely as to what it has been resolved to do in the current year. The information has, however, been given in all detail in the estimates for the year furnished some time ago, and the present omission may not therefore be of much consequence as regards this report.

3. As I need hardly say here, the valuation work was completed during the year in all three districts of the division, and the collections of the cess on both houses and lands were commenced everywhere. The collections were fully as satisfactory for a first year as they could well be expected to be, markedly so in Jessore, where there was no distress during the year, and where, therefore, the more stringent provisions of the law for default had freer play. Branch Road Cess Committees were appointed during the year in all three districts, and all that was needed to place the operation of the Act on a sound and efficient footing was done.

4. The Magistrate of the 24-Pergunnahs observes that, as a rule, the members of his committee did not evince much interest in their work, which is unsatisfactory. The Magistrate of Nuddea says nothing on the point, but I have reason to know that he has not the same ground of complaint. That the Magistrate of Jessore has the co-operation of his committee as far as is practicable, is apparent from what he says on the point in paragraph 3 of his report, though there is a difficulty in getting them to come in for meetings, as some of the members live in distant parts of the district. This is necessarily the case everywhere, as it is desirable that every part of a district should be represented on the committees. In all three districts, but especially in Nuddea and Jessore, the services of the branch or sub-divisional committees seem to have been utilized to some extent in the way of both advice and actual supervision of small local works. In this, I think, lies the germ of some improvement in our system of minor road operations in the interior, if we can only persuade local residents to take an active interest in such roads, &c., as are of use to them and their tenantry. It will probably be found that the more these committees are trusted, the more readily will they come forward to help the district executive.

5. Taking the district accounts and reports for the year separately for each district, I have to remark as follows :—

6. In the 24-Pergunnahs the total proceeds of the cess, including fines imposed, amounted during the year to Rs. 1,05,170, which, with Rs. 24,204, receipts from road and ferry tolls, the Government grant of Rs. 30,000 from the provincial reserve fund, and one or two petty items, made up a total of Rs. 1,59.644 at the committee's disposal. Of th,

Rs. 15,946, or over 15 per cent. on the cess proceeds, were spent on establishments; Rs. 23,878 on original works, and Rs. 77,606 on repairs, the balance in hand at the close of the year being Rs. 32,707. Details of the work taken in hand and completed, or remaining to be completed, have been given in the Chairman's report. Under "original works," it will be noticed, are shown a number of kutcha roads, each of considerable length, undertaken especially for purposes of relief in tracts in which distress prevailed owing to failure of crops. I am able to say from personal knowledge that the road works in question were useful ones, and the money was well spent.

7. The largest proportion of the year's expenditure was of course on account of repairs. In regard to none of the "original" works costing more than Rs. 2,500, and also in regard to none costing more than Rs. 10,000, was reference made to this office under rule 11 of the rules forwarded with Government circular No. 30 of May 8th 1872, an omission which has been pointed out to the Magistrate, who explains that the rule was overlooked.

8. Rupees 12,000 were spent on the improvement of village tracks and watercourses, such works being superintended in the interior by the sub-divisional officers and the members of the branch committees concerned.

9. Referring to the sketch given of the operations taken and to be taken in hand in the current year, I think the amount proposed to be spent on village roads bears a rather small proportion to the proposed aggregate expenditure on road works: it is smaller even than the allotment of the past year. The advisability of devoting a larger sum under this head will be pointed out to the Chairman, as such expenditure will go some way to reconcile the village population to the cess as one which is for their immediate good.

10. Mr. Peacock's remarks regarding the services rendered by the road cess deputy collector, Baboo Rahal Dass Mookerjee, and the Executive Engineer, Baboo Radhika Prosaud Mookerjee, severally have my concurrence. The last-named officer has, in my opinion, made himself undoubtedly most useful in conducting the road operations of the district.

11. In Nuddea the total receipts for the year amounted to Rs. 1,32,454, including the Government grant of Rs. 50,000; and the total expenditure to Rs. 1,67,260, or Rs. 34,805 more than the receipts; this latter sum, as already explained (vide this office No. 24PR, dated 16th December last), having been overdrawn from the treasury and spent for the most part on famine works.

12. The large sum of Rs. 50,801 was spent on original works, a great portion undertaken for relieving distress. A still larger amount, Rs. 96,974, was spent on repairs. In not a single case in which the cost of the work exceeded Rs. 2,500 does reference appear to have been made for approval of the estimate under paragraph 11 of the rules above quoted, owing apparently to oversight. The expenditure on improvement of village roads amounted in all to Rs. 13,800,—not a very large sum perhaps; but it is satisfactory to note, with reference to paragraph 24 of the district report, that the Chairman of the committee has a just sense of the importance of spending a fair amount in this direction. The fact of village communities coming forward to supplement the grants for village roads with sums subscribed by themselves, shews that the grant is money well spent.

13. The expenditure on establishments in Nuddea amounted in all to Rs. 14,458, or over 21 per cent. on the aggregate cess collections, Rs. 67,147.

14. As already stated in paragraph 1 above, the required information for the purposes of this report as to the road operations to be undertaken in the currrent year remains yet to be received from Nuddea: when received, it will be submitted.

15. Mr. Stevens' remarks about the need for placing the entire control of purely local roads in the hands of the Branch Committees, and leaving the general supervision only to the District Committee, seem to me to the point; and I should like to be authorized to draw the line between the duties, or rather the particular works to be considered by the Branch and District Committees respectively, without at all curtailing the functions of the latter as laid down by the law. Part of such an arrangement would of courses be a Branch Committee at the head-quarters of the district for the sudder sub-division.

16. All that Mr. Stevens says in his paragraphs 25 and 26 about the District Committees not being allowed to make their own arrangements for establishments required for execution of works, has already been represented by me as regards the entire division in separate correspondence, and again lately at a personal interview with the Lieutenant-Governor. The concession was once made at my recommendation, but the carrying out of the arrangements was subsequently suspended. There can be no doubt that in the Presidency Division the Road Cess Committee's road work is sufficient to take up the entire time of an Engineer in each district, and the working of the present system is most unsatisfactory. Practically, neither the Superintending Engineer nor the Magistrate can have the services of the single Executive Engineer at the time they are particularly required; while the Engineer, if ever so willing, cannot give satisfaction to either, and if indolent, can play off one against the other.

17. Regarding the supervisor, Baboo Dwarkanath Sircar, in charge of local works in Nuddea (vide paragraph 28 of the district report), I fully endorse the opinion recorded of him by Mr. Stevens.

18. In Jessore the entire amount available for road operations during the year was Rs. 1,82,425, including grants-in-aid from the Provincial Reserve Fund, aggregating Rs. 24,401. The total expenditure on establishments was Rs. 7,735, or nearly 8 per cent. on the total cess collections (Rs. 98,866), which is sufficiently small considering the amount of valuation and other work which had to be gone through. Rs. 19,172 were spent on original works and Rs. 62,215 on repairs. The expenditure on works would doubtless have been a great deal larger but for a considerable sum, Rs. 37,591, having gone towards adjustment of a heavy deficit balance of the previous year.

19. The Chairman gives full details of the principal works undertaken during the year. In this district, it will be observed, larger sums (Rs. 3,000 for each sub-division) by far than in the other districts were placed at the disposal of the sub-divisional committees for construction and repair of village roads. Mr. Smith, in his paragraph 26, shows that he appreciates the importance of attending to this point, and that the result of doing so has been successful, as it has reconciled the people to the cess.

20. In a supplementary report No. 22R, dated 14th January, and submitted herewith in original, Mr. Smith gives his programme of the works to be undertaken in the current year. This provides for a still larger sum, Rs. 22,000, than that spent last year being laid out on village roads, which is satisfactory.

21. In paragraph 6 of the supplementary report, the Chairman gives his opinion of the District Executive Engineer, Mr. Paterson, an opinion from which I see no reason to differ.

22. On the whole, I think the District Road Funds may be said to have been satisfactorily administered during the year, and the one thing wanting seems to me to be to allow the District Committees to make their own arrangements as regards establishment. In paragraph 16 of this report, I have only alluded to the practical inconvenience of the existing system; but I would here submit that there is very little use in appointing District Committees and asking them to supervise and decide on road operations if they are not allowed to select their own working agents, but forced to employ and pay part of the salaries of a Government officer and his establishment, who, when they are wanted to work for the committee, can always say they must do something else for Government. It seems to me that this little bit of self-government is very nominal indeed when the self-governing body is not allowed full discretion in such a matter, especially as they do not object to any amount of inspection and supervision on the part of Government officers in the case of important works.
